Bomber Explodes Over Little Rock; Five Killed

TROUBLE ON PARADISE — The Town of Corte Madera moved on down Paradise drive today with a street widening project despite the opposition of several residents who lose part of their yards in the operation. At left, Mrs. Jenny Conkle of 5 Harbor drive digs up plants on neighboring property of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Wilkinson at 2 Harbor drive, right in the path of earth-moving equipment. The Wilkinsons, losing part of their back yard, told her she could have the plant, she said. At right, Mrs. David E. Swanson of 4 Echo avenue watches town truck pull away with stakes and "No Trespassing" signs she erected after town forces moved her rear fence back six and one-half feet for the project. Marin Judge Turns Down Chessman Plea

Death Date Stands; Another Series Of Appeals Expected

Convict-author Caryl Chessman's May 2 rendezvous with the gas chamber still stands, despite a two-hour plea yesterday by his attorneys in Marin Superior Court.

George T. Davis and A. L. Wirin, representing the famous convict, asked for a writ of habeas corpus and a stay of execution on grounds that Chessman is about to be executed for non-capital offenses.

JUDGE'S VIEWPOINT

From the outset, Judge Jordan L. Martinelli indicated he sees little merit in the petition

"This is a courtesy hearing," the judge said. "I was inclined the other day to deny the writ. But I did not want to be precipitous."

Then he listened carefully for nearly two hours as Davis and Wirin argued vehemently. Rosalie Asher of Sacramento, another of Chessman's attorneys, also appeared, although she did not speak.

Opposing Chessman's petition were Deputy Atty. Gen. Arlo Smith and Marin Dist. Atty. William O. Weissich.

Then came Judge Martinelli's decision:

"I find no infirmity inherent in the judgment of death nor in the verdicts nor information upon which they stand.

JUDGMENTS FINAL

"The verdicts and judgments remain inviolate against the present attack upon them. The judgments are final.

"The petition is without merit.

"I find no just cause to interfere. The writ is denied."

Davis declared he would immediately appeal the decision to a higher court in San Francisco and indicated he would take the appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary.

Davis alleges that Chessman was tried in 1948 on charges of kidnaping for robbery, a non-capital offense. Only when "bodily harm" is added to the crime can it become a death penalty offense.

UNAWARE OF PENALTY

Since the charge itself did not mention bodily harm, Chessman began defending himself without being legally aware that conviction could mean death, Davis argued.

If the charges had been specific and Chessman knew he was up against a death penalty count, his defense could have been different, Wirin reasoned. For that reason, Chessman was denied due process of law, he argued.

Wirin took issue with the state Penal Code section which deals with kidnap-robbery. "This statute, if read fairly, is divisable into two parts — one with bodily harm and the other without. One deals with the

MARCH SLATED TO GO OUT LIKE A LAMB

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—March was expected to go out like a lamb in most of Northern California with warm and sunny weather forecast forecast through tomorrow.

However, light rain was expected near the Oregon border and north of Ukiah tonight and tomorrow with occasional showers or snow in the Mt. Shasta-Siskiyou area.

Body Of Flier Killed In Bay Crash Found

The body of Capt. Moritz K. Fromme Jr., 32, Hamilton Air Force Base radar observer whose plane went down in San Pablo Bay on Tuesday, was found floating off China Camp yesterday at 2:25 p.m.

The pilot of the T33 jet trainer, 1st Lt. Richard K. Ratliff, 25, of San Jose, has not been found.

At the time of the crash the plane was approaching Hamilton Field for a landing after a routine target mission. The last word the control tower heard from the fliers was a radio message at 7:05 p.m. Tuesday saying they were low on fuel at an altitude of 1,500 feet, approximately five miles south of the landing strip. The message added that they were pre-

Debris Rains Death On Arkansas Capital

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A flaming six-engine jet bomber exploded over Little Rock today and rained debris and death in its plunge near the capitol.

At least five persons, including three crewmen, were killed. Two civilians were known dead.

Flaming debris set seven or more houses afire and wreckage shattered windows for blocks around.

One airman parachuted to safety. He was burned seriously.

The B47 bomber had taken off only 10 minutes earlier on a training flight from its station at Little Rock Air Force Base, a Strategic Air Command facility. A base spokesman said the plane was capable of carrying nuclear weapons, but had none aboard.

One piece of wreckage dug a fiery 25-foot wide hole in a residential section near the capitol. Seven homes were destroyed by fire there.

The fuselage crashed into the small home of Mrs. A. L. Clark in Pulaski Heights, two miles from the capitol.

Mrs. Clark was trapped and perished in the flames.

The body of another civilian, Jimmy Hollobaugh, 27, was pulled from debris near the capitol. Nothing was left of his home except the foundation. It was about 25 yards from the eight-foot deep crater which the wreckage dug.

Bodies of two of the airmen were recovered from the wreckage near Mrs. Clark's home. The Air Force said the body of the third crewman also had been found.

GOP Assembly hopeful

Petaluma Man Announces For Assembly

A second Republican announced his candidacy today for the Marin-Sonoma state Assembly seat being vacated by Richard H. McCollister.

Leigh S. Shoemaker of Petaluma, Sonoma County supervisor, announced he has changed his mind and will seek the Republican nomination for the post. Earlier he had announced he would not run for the office.

Shoemaker said he changed his mind because he was encouraged by friends in both Marin and Sonoma counties to make the race. The only other Republican candidate for the post is William T. Bagley, San Rafael attorney.

Shoemaker, 56, has been a Sonoma supervisor since 1955 and was chairman of the board last year. He began his political career about 14 years ago. He was a freeholder for the City of Petaluma, then was elected to the city council, where he served for eight years, part of the time as vice mayor. He has been a member of the city's planning commission, a library trustee, a recreation commis-

S. African Police Club Mobs; U.N. Sanctions Suggested

Whites Fear New Mass March As Violence Spreads

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI)—South African police clubbed Negro mobs into submission in four townships today and fired over the heads of others. Racial violence spread and whites feared a march on Durban.

Helmeted troops and armored cars guarded the parliament building on Capetown while the National Assembly debated emergency new racial legislation. A ring of police held blacks prisoners in the nearby townships of Langa and Nyanga.

There were widespread arrests—40 to 50 today and up to 236 yesterday—but Negro opposition to the government's strict apartheid (total segregation) policies appeared to be growing.

White residents of South Africa were reported buying all the firearms available to protect themselves as threats of violence increased. The threat was especially grave at Durban where whites feared a mass outpouring similar to the one yesterday when 30,000 Africans marched on the parliament building in Capetown.

Police with batons charged crowds of Negroes in Jabavu and Natalspruit, south of Johannesburg, today. Police also used clubs on natives in township near Stellenbosch where Africans set fire to several buildings. At Somerset West near Capetown police fired over the crowd's heads after repeated clubbings failed to break up the Negro assemblage.

SMOG GADGETS FOR CARS MAY COST $60-$100

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The author of a bill to fight air pollution told the Senate Transportation Committee today that a smog-control device could be installed on cars for "not more than the cost of a good heater or radio."

Sen. Richard Richards (D-Los Angeles) opened a Senate hearing on his tough anti-smog bill by estimating the cost to the consumer of devices for his car would be between $60 and $100.

Dixie School Tax Increase Vote Planned

Dixie School residents will vote June 7 on a proposal to increase the district's basic tax rate from $1.83 to $2.45 per $100 assessed valuation.

A resolution calling for the election was passed by the board's trustees last midnight.

Supt. Dennis B. Willis said he was filing today with the county superintendent of schools the board's resolution requesting that the superintendent place the proposal on the primary election ballot.

The decision was made after several hours of discussion of the budget. Decision on just what use will be made of the money was not reached except that the question of school libraries was paramount because of need for both books and librarians, said Willis.

Otherwise, as to various ways in which extra money can be spent, Willis summed up, "the question will be whether we'll go heavy on books or people."

He said the trustees will shortly come to final decision on which needs will be stressed among those discussed last night.

The library needs were clear, the trustees conceded. Three

Ghana Asks U.S., Britain Intercede In Race Conflict

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)—Ghana asked the Security Council today to delegate the United States and Britain to appeal to South Africa to come to terms with leaders of the country's anti-segregationist movement.

If South Africa refuses to respond to the appeal, Ghanian Ambassador Alex Quaison-Sackey told the council, economic or diplomatic sanctions should be levied against it by the United Nations.

The suggestion from Ghana, the former British Gold Coast colony in West Africa, came as the Security Council started its second day's debate on race killings which took 70 to 80 lives 10 days ago when police fired on mass demonstrators.

South African Delegate Bernardus Gerhardus Fourie, who pulled out of the debate yesterday after protesting the council's right to discuss what his government contends is a purely internal affair, entered the chamber just before the 11-nation body met.

"It's the same as yesterday," he told newsmen.

War Of Signs Continues On Paradise Drive

"No Trespassing" signs blossomed again—briefly—today on a disputed seven-by-60-foot strip of land which the Town of Corte Madera has seized for a Paradise drive improvement project.

The signs were put up this morning by Mrs. David E. Swanson, whose backyard fence bordering Paradise drive was moved yesterday by town forces. They were promptly taken down by Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow and acting street supt. George Paraspolo.

Mrs. Swanson retired to her house and fashioned eight more signs, which are "all ready to go up."

"The only thing my husband won't let me do is to sit out there with an unloaded shotgun," Mrs. Swanson said.

Seizure of the strip and removal of her signs, she declared are in violation of Article 4 of the Bill of Rights of the U. S. Constitution, which forbids unlawful search and seizure.

"If it were so, it would be a grievious offense," shot back Town Atty. John B. Ehlen when informed of Mrs. Swanson's allegation.

"But," added Ehlen, "There is also the constitution of the State of California. We are proceeding under the eminent

San Rafael's Red Tag Days Off To Fast Start

A clear, breezy spring day combined with bargain offers to start brisk sales in San Rafael's semi-annual Red Tag Days.

Traffic picked up in San Rafael, and so did business. Customers began to flood stores early. Merchants commented, "It's terrific," and others frankly were "swamped." One store manager said his company parking lot usually provides plenty of space for customers, but today, "we had to turn some away to the meters."

Francis Fogerty, manager of J. C. Penney Co. in San Rafael, and William Costello, manager of Macy's, both said, "It's going good."

Fifty-two San Rafael stores are displaying the Red Tags that mean bargains for the three-day event which ends Saturday.

They expect business to be even better tomorrow with the start of a new month, and that is no April Fool's idea. Also tomorrow, shoppers will be able to take advantage of more shopping hours because stores will be open until 9 p.m.

Store owners and managers agreed on this: There has been a lot of early action and that always means the three days of Red Tag Days will be fine.

PAINTER GETS 'BATH'

When She Says, 'Don't Park,' She Means...

Parking in Mill Valley is all wet, says Ralph N. Asay of San Anselmo.

Asay and Albert Mates of Fairfax, his partner in a painting business, pulled up with a truckload of equipment in front of Strawbridge's Camera and Stationery Store on Throckmorton avenue, where they had a job to do, yesterday.

"You can't park here over an hour," Patrolman John Imperiale told them. "This is a metered area."

The officer, said Asay, told them to drive one block to Lovell avenue, where there are no meters.

The painters drove there and pulled to the curb in front of the home of Mrs. R. A. Bingham at 16 Lovell.

Mrs. Bingham was washing down the steps and sidewalk with a garden hose. She told him not to park the truck there.

"I told her the officer said I could park there," said Asay.

"And then she gave me the hose!"

Asay, dripping, complained to police. Patrolman Dan Terzich gave him little satisfaction.

"I know how you must feel," said Terzich, "but I think it's pretty funny."

Said Mrs. Bingham: "I was watering when that man came up and I asked him nicely not to park here as a truck was coming to take away some brush we had cleared in back of the house.

"I was watering and I just went right on watering."

SENATOR AND DISTINGUISHED GUEST

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was trying to study a typewritten copy of his speech at a luncheon in Washington yesterday where he was guest of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. But he found his attention wandering to the eye-appealing food being eaten by his luncheon partner, veteran Sen. Theodore Green (D-R.I.). Today Macmillan was back in London where he reported that his talks with President Eisenhower had resulted in "a real step forward" in Western policy on world affairs. (AP Wirephoto)

RIVERS POSE NEW FLOOD PERIL TO PLAINS, EAST

Danger Mounts As Spring Thaw Continues; Death Toll Now 10

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Swollen rivers which drove thousands from their homes threatened new floods today from the Plains states to the East Coast.

Nebraska, the hardest-hit state, fought the raging rivers with sandbags and dynamite. Helicopters plucked stranded families from roof tops and dropped food and medicine to isolated towns.

Crews toiled through the night placing thousands of sandbags on dikes holding back marauding streams. Demolition experts set off dynamite charges in an effort to smash mountainous ice jams.

But the danger in the Prairie Belt mounted as officials said the runoff from the spring thaw was by no means over.

The death toll climbed to 10—four in Missouri, three in Nebraska and one each in Illinois, Kansas and Michigan.

Iowa and Nebraska appealed for immediate federal disaster aid. The American Red Cross estimated more than 4,000 persons had been affected by floods in Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota, Kansas, Missouri and Illinois.

Entire communities were submerged and tens of thousands of acres of rich farmland were under water at a time when farmers normally begin spring planting.

Damage from the marauding rivers brought into flood stage by a spring thaw, mounted into the millions of dollars.

EDUCATOR SAYS TV VIOLENCE AFFECTS KIDS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Seattle, Wash., educator says there is evidence that the emotionally unstable child may be influenced by crime, passion and violence he sees in movies and on television.

Dr. Chester Babcock, executive director of Seattle public school instruction, said yesterday there is no conclusive evidence that TV and comic books affect a normal child's behavior.

But, he remarked, to argue that television does not influence the viewer to some extent is to "indulge in the wildest kind of contradiction."

He said: "If it doesn't influence, then the nation's advertisers are pouring millions down the rathole. Our businessmen are too smart for that."

Babcock was the windup speaker for the mass media forum at the White House conference on Children and Youth.

Estimated population of Newfoundland is 300,000.

Mortgage Bill Wins Assembly Unit's Backing

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The first of two bills designed to protect mortgage investors and home owners from "freewheeling 10 per centers" was approved by an Assembly committee yesterday.

The bill by Assemblyman Richard Hanna (D-Garden Grove) would require mortgage brokers to make full disclosures about encumbrances on property involved on second mortgages they seek to sell.

Hanna also predicted passage of a second measure by the Assembly Finance and Insurance Committee which would require similar disclosures in home sales to help prevent "blue sky" or unrealistic financing arrangements.

Both bills make certain violations misdemeanors.

The Peace Treaty of the Russo-Japanese War was signed in 1905 at Portsmouth, N.H. President Theodore Roosevelt acted as arbitrator.

Off Blacklist

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Writers Guild of America has reinstated screen writer Dalton Trumbo, who was blacklisted in 1947 after he refused to answer questions at a congressional hearing about his feelings on communism.

Guild president Curtis Kenyon said Trumbo had been on suspension for nonpayment of dues. He said the guild has an anti-Communist clause, but only for those proved to be Communists or those who admit being party members.

Trumbo applied for readmission and paid up his back dues after producer Otto Preminger signed him to do the screen play for "Exodus."

Gas Blast Kills 5

AUBURN, N.Y. (AP)—A gasoline station blew up last night, killing five people.

The blast was so violent that all that remained where the cinder-block building had stood was a large pit filled with debris.

Two women, residents of an apartment building next door, were injured.

Well, Back To Table

LONDON (UPI)—Singer Ann Shelton, who recently ended a long diet during which her weight dropped from 224 to 154 pounds, yesterday landed her first acting job.

She will co-star in the televised drama "Three Fat Ladies."

Writer Hospitalized

LONDON (UPI)—Irish playwright Brendan Behan was taken to Middlesex Hospital last night but a hospital spokesman said today his condition was "not serious."

The hospital refused further details, but friends had said Behan was seriously ill with diabetes and cirrhosis of the liver.

Dumb Ox

KAGOSHIMA, Japan (UPI)—Farmer Jiro Jukumoto boasted to neighbors about his smart ox that could turn on water faucet with its tongue to get a drink of water.

He stopped bragging when his water bill shot up and he realized he had not taught the ox how to turn the tap off.

Saved From Salt Pile

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP)—Fifty men, using heavy equipment, worked two hours yesterday to rescue a dockside laborer who tumbled into a pile of salt.

Louis V. Porgornik, 41, of Palo Alto, was helping load the Japanese freighter Dowa Maru when he was buried in a slide of the 150-ton mountain of loose salt.

When he was finally hauled from the mass of salt, Podgornik was taken to a hospital, suffering from shock and possible internal injuries.

Pays To Advertise

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — Keith L. Bennett, 12 years old, believes it pays to advertise. He signed a $2 contract with an advertising agency to promote his shoeshine business.

"It's probably the smallest contract in the history of the ad business," said Richard E. Oransky, the agency man who made the sale. The firm's art department prepared a four-color leaflet which Keith will distribute around town.

Key Clubs Illegal

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—"Key clubs" are illegal in California, according to state Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk.

Mosk ruled yesterday that taverns operating under general liquor licenses cannot restrict their patronage to persons who own keys.

No Machine Guns

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill legalizing machine guns in Michigan met defeat yesterday in the state Senate.

John Lesinski of Detroit introduced the bill on behalf of a group of gun collectors. One gun fancier, a funeral director, got several fellow morticians to write letters to the Senate.

But Sen. Charles Blondy of Detroit protested:

"It's an outrage They're not killing people fast enough so the funeral directors want a bill to legalize machine guns."

Cranberry Payoff

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is going to pay about 10 million dollars to cranberry growers who were unable to sell uncontaminated berries after last fall's cancer scare.

Cranberry growers had asked 15 to 20 million dollars from the government for 1959 crop losses and possible losses in the 1960 crop. They claimed there was no need for such a scare.

Standard Oil Opposes Plan To Reapportion

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Standard Oil Co. of California, which usually doesn't air its political opinions in public, has stepped into the battle over state Senate reapportionment.

The state's biggest firm wants everyone to know it's against a proposed initiative measure giving Northern and Southern California 20 senators apiece.

The populous area below the Tehachapi now has only eight of the 40 seats—a situation considered unfair by Southern Californians.

Standard Oil presents both sides of the reapportionment argument in a pamphlet distributed at the Capitol. But it declares itself in favor of the present "federal plan."

Under this system, the 80-member Assembly represents the state on a population basis and the Senate on a territorial basis. The Assembly is reshuffled every 10 years to meet changes in population.

Deploring the sectional cleavage created by the 20-20 proposal, Standard says it recognizes that its stand might create some ill-feeling in certain quarters.

"The company nevertheless strongly feels an obligation to set forth its views," the statement adds.

Puccini's opera "La Tosca" was first performed in Rome in 1900. It is a melodious story of the love of a singer and a painter.

MORE DEMONSTRATIONS

Texas Police Turn Fire Hoses On 150 Negroes

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The second full month of a concerted Negro campaign to integrate lunch counter facilities in the South has ended with a near riot in Texas and a cautious compromise proposal in North Carolina.

Police turned fire hoses on 150 Negro demonstrators at Marshall, Tex., yesterday; about 5,000 Negro students marched on the Louisiana state capital of Baton Rouge to sing and pray; and 200 whites and Negroes held a prayer meeting of "dissatisfaction" outside the mayor's office at Nashville, Tenn.

The demonstrations, which in two months have occurred in every southern state except Mississippi, began Feb. 1 at Greensboro, N.C. The first major compromise proposal was reported today at High Point, N.C., just a few miles from where the campaign began.

Mayor Jesse Washburn of High Point said his "human relations committee" has proposed that lunch counter facilities in High Point stores be integrated for a 60-day trial period during which police will remain vigilant to break up any demonstration that could lead to violence.

The prayer session at the office of Nashville Mayor Ben West was a protest against slow progress of the mayor's biracial committee named to find a solution to racial problems in Nashville where scores of Negroes were arrested. Police did not interfere.

At Marshall, where 65 per cent of the 35,000 population is Negro, students from Wiley and Bishop colleges turned out in force to protest the arrest of about 60 lunch counter demonstrators.

Police drove 150 back with fire hoses and broke up another group singing and praying at the courthouse.

Students at Southern University near Baton Rouge suddenly walked out of class yesterday at a pre-arranged signal and marched to the city's business district and up to the Capitol steps. The demonstration ended within an hour.

Today, the 5,400 students of the all-Negro university held a pep rally instead of attending classes and decided to "form a double line to the president's office" and withdraw from school.

The students are angry because the school expelled or suspended 18 students who took part in lunch counter sitdowns and yesterday's mass march.

Committee Selected To Work For Drake Statue

A "Dollars for Drake Committee" to head a campaign to raise $15,000 for a London-made bronze statue of Sir Francis Drake was appointed last night.

Announcement was made at the meeting of the Marin Visitors Bureau that an anonymous donor has already pledged $5,000.

The statue, a copy of one in the Drake museum in Buckland Abbey at Plymouth, England, is to be placed somewhere in the Drake's Bay area and probably overlooking Drake's Estero. Details of both location and maintenance were put in the hands of the committee.

Mrs. Eve Young, director of the Marin County Hostess Service, was made chairman of the group which also includes:

Robert F. Merritt, secretary of the Novato Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. Jean Brown of the Business and Professional Women's Club; Mrs. Ellen Martinelli of the Credit Women's Breakfast Club of Marin; Pat Dailey of the Marin County Labor Council; Frank George, director of the Greater San Rafael Chamber of Commerce; L. W. Conover of the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce, and Melba Traverso of Beauty Counselors Cosmetics.

Appointments were by bureau chairman Esther Dearth. Thirty-five representatives of various county organizations and firms met at the Northwestern Savings and Loan Assn. building in San Rafael.

The committee is to work out problems not only of fund raising but also of the location of the proposed statue of the historic navigator who is believed to have landed on Marin shores June 17, 1579. It is hoped that delivery of the statue can be made in time for dedication ceremonies June 17, 1961.

Capt. A. S. Oko of Inverness reported that friends in Plymouth, England, had ascertained that the cost delivered would be $15,000 and that if the order were placed at once it would be possible to deliver in time for the dedication as scheduled.

He added that one member of the Drake Navigators Guild, who prefers to remain anonymous, had offered to underwrite $5,000 of the cost.

The group decided that contributions may be sent to the Dollars for Drake Committee in care of the Marin Visitors Bureau, 801 B street, San Rafael. Checks should be made out to the Marin Visitors Bureau.

A meeting of the committee will be held soon to prepare a report for the next bureau meeting April 27.

DRAKE TO RETURN TO MARIN? — The Marin Visitors Bureau last night set up a committee to raise $15,000 to pay for a replica of this statue of Sir Francis Drake in Buckland Abbey at Plymouth, England. The statue would be placed somewhere on the Marin coast on which Drake landed on June 17, 1579.

Hub Council Split 2-2 On Election

The San Anselmo City Council is lined up 2-to-2 for two opposing tickets on the Hub City's April 12 municipal ballot.

Councilman William Franchini last night joined the backers of John M. Reichmuth and Robert E. Rouse, council candidates of the San Anselmo Citizens for Good Government.

Councilman Carleton G. Little was already committed for Reichmuth and Rouse. Incumbent Mayor Arthur W. Smith, running for re-election for the council, is teamed with candidate Henry J. (Beck) Regalia, and that ticket has the backing of Councilman Carmel H. Booth. Only incumbent councilman uncommitted is Jordan L. Martinelli Jr., who is retiring when his term ends next month.

Franchini's support for Reichmuth and Rouse was made known in a letter signed by him and Little which was read last night at a rally for the two candidates at Isabel Cook School. About 75 persons attended the rally.

Fromme's body was wrapped in the shroud lines of his open parachute. His life raft, part of a survival kit carried on missions over water, was inflated and floating upside down. Fromme was strapped to the raft.

He was found by three unidentified fishermen from South San Francisco who had joined the search which involved air and surface craft of the Air Force, Marin sheriff's Marine Patrol, Coast Guard and Navy.

Capt. Guenther Schmid of the Marine Patrol was in command of a launch which was searching near the spot at the moment the body came to the surface. Schmid said the choppy water made visibility over the surface almost nil.

Schmid, whose boat took the body to the China Camp pier, said Fromme's "Mae West," the rubber life preserver worn on missions over water, was not inflated.

Base officials said an autopsy would be performed.

The search for Ratliff and the plane itself was continuing today. A seat rest and a portion of a target reflector are the only parts of the plane recovered thus far.

Fromme resided at 1164 Ransome drive, Raphael Village. Married and the father of four small children, Fromme had been at Hamilton since December, 1957. He was attached to the 1902nd Air and Aircraft Communications Service Squadron.

Ratliff, 25, was unmarried. He was a member of the 682nd Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron at Almaden in Santa Clara County.

sioner and vice chairman of civil defense.

In civic activities he has been a director of the chamber of commerce, the Camp Fire Girls and Boy Scouts. He was campaign chairman for the Red Cross, president of the Community Concert Assn., a director of Town Hall, and president of the Knife and Fork Club of Sonoma County.

The Assembly aspirant is married and has one daughter.

He came to California 39 years ago and has been a Petaluma resident for 23 years. For 20 of those years he operated a retail dry goods business in both Petaluma and Novato, in association with his wife. They closed the business several years ago.

Education in the Pacific Northwest, he took technical school training in Portland, graduated from Sacramento Junior College, then took civil engineering schooling which led him into an associate engineering job of testing and research on California highways. After five years of this, however, he started in the retail merchandising business, in which he has spent 32 years in both California and Texas.

Shoemaker said he would file his candidacy papers in Santa Rosa today and that he will conduct an aggressive campaign for the office in both counties.

part-time librarians now serving are considered inadequate to meet the need, and most of the books now on the shelves came from parents' clubs rather than from selection from publishers' lists in accordance with need.

Another need was felt to be "resource teachers," without regularly scheduled teaching assignments, who could assist in the development of "fast-learning" pupils and also aid pupils who are in difficulties.

Development of other parts of the program, Willis said, will depend in considerable degree on how many of these "resource teachers" are to be provided.

A third possible provision would be for a full-time curriculum coordinator, now handled on a three-days-a-week basis. The work would be in effect that of an assistant superintendent in charge of instruction, dealing with what is taught and ways of teaching it, Willis explained.

Also being considered are landscaping and general improvement of grounds of the five schools of the district.

The district also need science equipment, equipment for instruction in home-making in the seventh and eighth grades, and manual arts equipment for the same grades, the board was told.

Enough money is also required, Willis said, to provide for already adopted salary schedule increases.

"Basically," said Willis, "the idea is to provide ways and means to give the kind of education that will work every youngster to the limit of his ability.

"We want to offer ample opportunity to the especially gifted so that they won't be held back, and at the same time to give the fullest development to the others."

Mill Valley's Teachers To Present Show

One of the sketches in the Mill Valley Teachers Assn.'s second annual benefit, April Follies, will be a barbershop quartet made up of G. Robert McConnell, the district superintendent of schools, plus William Castelli, Leo Edson and David Reed of the district office.

The revue will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Park School auditorium, to help provide funds for a scholarship in the field of education to be given a Tamalpais High School senior.

Teachers and parents will take part in the sketches. Teachers in the "Beatnik" bit are James Martin, Georganne Doty, Frony Barbara Stevenson and Aram Zailian, as well as Vice Principal Dominic Bobbio, all of Edna Maguire School.

Other teachers in the revue are Margaret Peterson and Jane Clayton of Old Mill, who will do a Charleston; Barbara Hitt, Genelle Dollarhide and Valerie Kell of Strawberry, pantomime; Roy Knechtle and Rory Kaplan of Alto, guitar and singer act.

Lecture Slated On Inter-Planetary Communications

Dr. John W. Hopkins, for 22 years president of Williams College in Berkeley, will lecture at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the multi-purpose room of Isabel Cook School, San Anselmo, under sponsorship of Understanding Unit 31.

Subject of Hopkins' lecture, which will deal with communications with residents of other planets, will be "What Is a Contactee?"

Williams College, a liberal arts school, recently added a school of metaphysical inquiry.

A question period will follow the lecture. Admittance will be free, but a collection will be taken, said Mrs. Mary L. McAlpine of Fairfax, organizer of Understanding Unit 31.

domain provisions of the state constitution. I would be glad to give the embattled Paradise drive dwellers a copy of those provisions."

Brandow said the "no trespasssing" signs were removed "because the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. was working there, and we didn't want their forces to think they couldn't move their poles. The poles must be moved for us to build our road."

A condemnation suit against the Swansons and three other recalcitrant property owners was filed by Ehlen last Friday in Marin Superior Court. An order granting the town immediate right of possession and entry was issued Tuesday by Judge Thomas F. Keating.

Mrs. Swanson said she and her husband have received no official notification of the court order.

Said Ehlen: "They will get it in a day or so."

The town attorney said he admires the Swansons' "gumption and spirit for opposing the town on alleged constitutional grounds . . . They have a natural resentment against unwanted, on their part, condemnation."

CHESSMAN

possibility of losing one's life, and the other assures he won't lose his life."

FEDERAL PROCESS

Federal due process of law provides that a defendant be apprised of the crime and the consequences of conviction, Wirin continued. The penalty —one bringing death and the other assuring life — is such that the charge must be specific so as to indicate which penalty is involved, Wirin reasoned.

In California, this may be the law, "but I am challenging this on the basis of federal due process," Wirin emphasized.

Smith pointed out that only essential elements of an offense need be charged. For example, in murder, the charge is simply "killing of a human being with malice aforethought." The degree of murder and whether the man dies is determined on the basis of the evidence brought out during the trial, Smith argued. Therefore, the rape-robbery charge against Chessman was sufficient, and it was up to the jury to determine whether bodily harm was involved, Smith said.

WEISSICH'S STAND

Weissich declared that in almost every crime — murder, robbery, burglary, etc. — the charge does not specify degree. For example, a man is merely charged with burglary, and does not know whether the final verdict will be first degree (life imprisonment) or second degree (maximum of 15 years).

"If Chessman's theory is adopted, it would in effect be opening the gates to most of the prisoners confined in San Quentin and in every other prison. . . . All those convicted and confined in San Quentin could come before this court and file the same petition and make the same arguments," declared Weissich.

In the Chessman trial, there was "no sham, no fraud, it was clear as crystal," Weissich concluded.

Davis attacked Weissich's comments as an "emotional argument."

The Chessman case should be decided on its own merits, not on the basis of whether "floodgates would be opened for thousands of others," said Davis.

Petty Thief Gets 30 Days In Jail

Donald Christian Davis, arrested yesterday after once eluding San Anselmo police in a chase on foot, must serve 30 days in county jail for petty theft.

Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court sentenced Davis yesterday and ordered him to make restitution to Rossi drug store in San Anselmo, where he charged three cartons of cigarettes and hair cream to a fictitious name.

The judge also put Davis on six months probation.

Davis, who is from Los Angeles, said he still faces a grand theft charge in Santa Monica. Asst. Chief Sam N. Serio of San Anselmo said the arrest of Davis cleared up a half dozen thefts from cars. Davis was traced to Fairfax after abandoning his car in San Anselmo to flee on foot.

AF School To Be Moved To Hamilton

The Air Defense Command's Non - Commissioned Officers Academy will move from Otis Air Force Base, Mass., to Hamilton Air Force Base early in May, it was announced today.

The school, in operation for three years, offers intensive training to non-commissioned officers from technical sergeant through chief master sergeant. Enrollees will come from all bases in the Air Defense Command.

Each session of the academy lasts five weeks. The first session scheduled for Hamilton will open May 16. Sixty NCO's attend each series of classes.

Teacher Discusses Speed In Reading

A technique discovered by accident about 30 years ago has been developed into a method of increasing reading speed, according to Donald R. Kogut, teacher of evening classes at the 3-R Schools in San Rafael and Berkeley.

The courses he teaches are based on findings made by Dr. Samuel Renshaw who attempted to test a person who could memorize a page of a telephone book in two minutes.

By flashing reading material before the person, Dr. Renshaw found the person's ability to record material increased with testing. He found a "normal" person's ability could be increased the same way.

Kogut says that now the average person in a 10-week training course can increase reading speed from 275 words a minute to 500 and 1,500 words a minute. He is starting such courses at the Berkeley School.

Marin Cancer Campaign Chairman Appointed

The American Cancer Society's April Cancer Crusade in Marin got under way today with the appointment of Mrs. Robertson Ward of 22 Laurel Grove avenue, Kentfield, as county chairman, announced Robert Praetzel, president of the Marin County branch.

Mrs. Ward will direct the activities of more than 2,000 volunteers in a campaign designed to raise $30,000 as Marin's share of the national goal, Praetzel said.

For the fifth consecutive year the Crusade is using the slogan "Fight Cancer With a Checkup and a Check."

Named as Mrs. Ward's vice chairman were Mrs. Thomas Dorst of Tiburon, and Mrs. Clarence Lesko, of San Rafael.

Mrs. Ward said community area chairmen will be announced shortly. Marin County residents wishing to volunteer their help in the Crusade may call the Cancer Society's Marin County office.

Harry J. Mack is executive director of the Marin branch.

State Medical Assn. Chief To Address Marin Doctors

Dr. Paul D. Foster, president of the California Medical Assn., will be featured speaker at the meeting of the Marin County Medical Society at the Meadow Club in Fairfax, on April 7, at 7 p.m., according to Dr. Dallas L. Wagner, president of the Marin society.

Dr. Foster, a Los Angeles dermatologist, will discuss medical problems of the advanced aged groups, as well as the community's responsibility in the approach to the problem. He will call for avoiding "politically inspired and federally administered programs, supported by an increase in taxes," the California Medical Assn. reported. He will also emphasize the profession's support of voluntary health insurance plans.

Dr. Carl Anderson, CMA council member from Santa Rosa, and John Hunton, executive secretary for CMA's 17,000 physicians, will also appear on the program.

Demand For Bid Breakdown Stirs New Textbook Dispute

SACRAMENTO (AP)—California's school textbook dispute flared anew in the Assembly yesterday over demands for detailed cost breakdowns in publishers' bids.

The house, by a bare majority vote of 41-31, adopted a resolution calling for the cost breakdown on all bids for privately printed textbooks. A move for reconsideration of the resolution today delays it move to the Senate, however.

"We don't know if the bids are reasonable unless we have a detailed breakdown," said Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'Berg (D-Sacramento), author of the measure.

Assemblyman Clark L. Bradley (R-San Jose), opposing the measure, said it would force publishers to reveal their operations to competitors.

More Outdoor Play Spots In State Urged

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A legislative committee on outdoor recreation has recommended more snow and beach areas for the California public.

The committee, headed by director DeWitt Nelson of the state Department of Natural Resources, told Gov. Edmund G. Brown yesterday that most people who go to snow areas don't go to ski, but to play.

Nelson said that more snow areas with gentle slopes, and parking spaces and shelters should be provided for public use closer to population centers.

COASTLINE EYED

He also urged government acquisition of more of the California coastline. He said that only one quarter of the coastline is owned by government agencies, and that about 40 per cent of that is closed to public use.

The committee recommended zones of recreational facilities, including those within 40 miles of a community, to be used for day-use facilities; within 300 miles for weekend or week-long vacations, and beyond 250 miles for extended vacations.

AREAS LISTED

It listed new sources of recreational areas as open spaces around public schools, fairgrounds, buffer zones around airports, some domestic water reservoirs and large private holdings that might be opened up if a suitable type of liability insurance could be developed to protect the owners.

The committee also suggested that inter-county regional administrations, along the lines of rapid transit or aid pollution districts, be established to assist county governments with recreational problems.

EXPERT, AGE 8, TO HOLD FROG-CATCHING COURSE

Tiburon Peninsula youngsters will have the chance of a lifetime Saturday to learn the intricate art of catching frogs when the Southern Marin Recreation Center initiates an hour-long frog catching class from 10 to 11 a.m.

George Berticevich, age 8, will instruct members' children ranging from four to 10 years on how to catch and take care of frogs.

Frogs caught will be trained for a frog jumping contest to be held on April 9 at 1 p.m. as part of the center's opening day ceremonies.

Bad Check Purchases Recovered

Clothing and a television set obtained from three Marin stores by Alfred Willard Reed with fraudulent checks have been recovered, Asst. Chief Sam N. Serio of San Anselmo police reported today.

Reed was arrested Tuesday night in a San Francisco hotel room by Serio and Sheriff's Inspector Guido Battaglia.

Serio said women's clothing obtained from shops in Tiburon and Mill Valley has been recovered, as has a television set which Reed bought at Hoy's in San Anselmo with a worthless $250 check.

The TV, said Serio, was subsequently sold by Reed to an elderly crippled woman in San Francisco for $100. She had paid him $70 and was paying out the price in installments, the assistant police chief reported.

Reed faces felony bad check charges.

Yul Brynner Takes Bride

Brynner and his bride drove into Mexico City in a secret motorcade which surprised their friends and fellow workers. They had indicated they would be married over the weekend.

Miss Kleiner, a native of Czechoslovakia who has lived most of her life in Chile, is a director of a high fashion house in Paris. This is her first marriage, and Brynner's second.

The actor received a Mexico divorce from his wife, Virginia Gilmore, in Juarez, Mexico, last Saturday.

The couple met in Paris last year during the filming of "Solomon and Sheba." According to friends, Brynner said he met Miss Kleiner while his marriage was breaking up.

Brynner, 44, and the 32-year-old brunette have been seeing one another constantly since their first meeting.

Marin Hospital To Add 8 Obstetrical Nurses

A one-day record for births—13—was set yesterday at Marin General Hospital, and authorization to employ eight additional nurses for the obstetrical department was granted last night by the hospital board.

Directors of Marin County Hospital District were unaware of the new record when they took action at an adjourned meeting in the hospital's staff lounge.

But they were fully cognizant of the fact that Marin General's monthly birth rate has nearly doubled in the seven years since the institution opened. Deliveries averaged 142 per month last year, compared with 73 in 1952.

Employment of more nurses had been recommended by Administrator S. Ames Pence and the hospital's medical staff after a survey of other Bay Area hospitals. Planners of a new wing for Marin General Hospital are placing special emphasis on obstetrical facilities, the board was informed recently.

In other action last night, district directors:

1. Endorsed the San Rafael General Hospital expansion program, soon to get under way, as "a laudatory project" in view of the county's need for more hospital beds.

2. Voted to integrate employees' Blue Cross health insurance with the California disability insurance program at an estimated annual saving to the district of $1,800 and with no loss of benefits to hospital employees.

Ambulances Adequately Serve Area, Says Panel

Marin County has adequate ambulance service, a panel decided today on radio station KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board."

The panelists were Asst. County Administrator Allan Bruce; Angelo Turrini, owner of United Ambulance, San Rafael; Fire Chief Leslie Armager, who heads Mill Valley's municipal ambulance service, and Austin Turner, administrative assistant at Marin Ambulance Service of Larkspur.

Questions telephoned to the program, which will be rebroadcast from tape at 12:30 p.m. Sunday, revealed, however, that some persons in Novato feel service in that area is not adequate.

Service in Mill Valley, like that in Sausalito, is a city function. Armager explained that Mill Valley's one ambulance was paid for by public donations. The first ambulance, in 1937, was purchased by the American Legion.

He said Novato people should provide their ambulance, if they feel they need one, through volunteer help and funds.

Other panelists agreed. Turrini said "it is not feasible for a private organization to operate in Novato. There are only a few calls there each month." At present, for emergency service, United Ambulance can becalled for service there, and the Petaluma city ambulance can be called for the northern part of the county.

Turrini explained that the ambulance business is one mainly of transportation.

Turner said many so-called emergency cases at the hospital are brought in by private car, and it would be costly for the hospital to maintain an ambulance.

Bruce said the idea of a privately operated ambulance at Novato was abandoned as not economically feasible. He explained that for emergency and indigent cases the county has contracts with both the privately owned companies in Marin.

None of the panelists thought there were any real problems in providing adequate, quick and safe service for Marin today.

Housing Authority Postpones Meeting

The regular meeting of the Marin County Housing Authority and the Marin County Redevelopment Agency, scheduled for Monday at Marin City, has been postponed until April 11.

Bert Klahn, executive director of both organizations, said meeting times remain the same: 1:30 p.m. for the housing authority and 2:30 p.m. for the redevelopment agency.

Coast Guard Recruiters To Display Equipment

The Marin County Coast Guard recruiting office will display a communication truck, a motor lifeboat and a mobile recruiting office tomorrow and Saturday at Greenbrae Lane, Greenbrae.

FLASHY, BUT . . . On wrists of sheriff's officers are two of the gold-plated $7.50 watches which three San Francisco men are suspected of using as security in a $10,000-a-year bunco operation. The three were arrested in Santa Venetia yesterday. (Independent-Journal photo)

Trio Jailed As Suspects In Watch Frauds

Sheriff's deputies yesterday nabbed three men from San Francisco, suspected as members of a fraud ring that has been palming off cheap watches in this area for a $10,000 annual profit.

The three were also being questioned in connection with an armed robbery in San Francisco last December.

Inspector Bowen Bridges and Deputy Arthur Wiggins identified the trio as Arthur Thomas Bucalos, alias Holland, 44; Edwin Benvenu Bucalos, 35, and Louis Fred Esper, alias Asper, 36. All gave San Francisco hotels as their addresses.

CAR SPOTTED

They were caught outside the Santa Venetia Super Market at San Pablo road and North San Pedro road a few minutes after trying to sell one of their $7.50 watches for $35 to Joseph Nerviani of Joe's Boat Landing. Deputies Wiggins and Robert DiGrazia spotted their car outside the market and arrested them.

Inspector Bridges and Deputy Wiggins said the three admitted selling six of the watches in Marin yesterday.

Two women are also suspected as members of the ring, but they are still at large.

CHEAP WATCHES

Inspector Bridges said they have been operating for about nine years. They would go to race tracks, Reno or Las Vegas, taverns or service stations with stories of woe. They bought the flashy looking gold-colored watches with expansion bands for $7.50 each in San Francisco and would sell or leave them as security on the pretext the watches are worth $135 each.

Maurice Kelly of 143 Magnolia avenue, Corta Madera, a service station attendant, was victimized on Feb. 10. He said the men gave him a sad story about needing $35 to settle a damage claim immediately. They left a watch as security.

Dairy Worker Arrested On Charge Of Beating Tiny Tot

A young dairy worker in North Marin, suspected of beating his 18-month-old daughter, was in Marin County Jail today on a complaint by his wife.

Albert Aubrey Adams, 23, a milker on the Dolcini Ranch at 4189 Chileno Valley road, was arrested last night by Sheriff's Deputies Kenneth Irving and William S. Christiansen. Deputies said the little girl, Cheryl Lynn, was covered with bruises on her face and body.

Mrs. Belva June Adams, 20, went to the Petaluma Police Department for help yesterday. Petaluma police called the sheriff because the home is in Marin County.

Mrs. Adams said Adams had beaten the child Tuesday, and three times yesterday.

Sheriff's investigators said Adams admitted hitting the child but explained he had a reason for doing so. He did not divulge the reason. Adams also told officers his wife beat the youngster too. He said he has had a bad back, which has been giving him headaches.

He was scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon.

Census Starts Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tonight is T-night, the kickoff of the 1960 census. If you're away from home overnight this is when you'll probably be counted.

"T" stands for transient and T-night means that guests in all the larger hotels and motels will be contacted and asked to fill out a special questionnaire.

The regular door-to-door census begins tomorrow morning. It will continue for several weeks and will employ 170,000 temporary workers.

STOCKS TODAY

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed lower today after a late selling wave upended a previously irregular pattern.

Most changes were confined to fractions as brokers and investors waited to see which way the market will move next.

Volume for the day was estimated at 2,500,000 shares compared with 2,450,000 shares yesterday.

Senate Unit Backs Air Pollution Bill

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—a bill, vigorously opposed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors, was given approval by a state Senate committee yesterday and sent to the floor of the Senate.

The bill would give the San Francisco Bay Area Air Pollution Control District authority over local and state governments in the six-county Bay area, including Marin.

The Marin supervisors' opposition dates back two years when the smog control district asked county government to police smog regulations. The supervisors maintained the district had tax funds and could police its own regulations.

Then a year ago a contractor at Marin City sought and obtained a permit from the county fire chief to burn rundown homes in the housing development which had been declared fire hazards.

The smog district immediately cited him for violation of its regulations.

In a hearing before the supervisors, attorneys for the smog district maintained district regulations superceded the county ordinances. Marin County Counsel Leland Jordan insisted the ordinances would control.

The smog district had the legislation introduced by Assemblyman Byron Rumford (D-Berkeley.. to clarify the situation and it passed the Assembly. The supervisors were notified of the bill and on March 15 again stater their opposition. Then on Tuesday, the board sent a telegram to Marin Senator John F. McCarthy urging defeat of the bill. Yesterday the Senate's Local Government Committee passed it after an hour-long hearing.

Under its terms, orders of the district would be obeyed by state agencies, cities, cities and counties, counties, districts, authorities, boards, commissions and local agencies in the area.

Opposition to the bill also came from the East Bay Municipal Utility District. Counsel John Riley suggested the committee send the bill to an interim committee for study.

Sen. Eugene McAteer (D-San Francisco) also objected to the bill and made a formal motion that it be sent to an interim committee. The motion was defeated.

McAteer pointed out that of the six counties in the pollution control district, only two—Santa Clara and Alameda—had expressly said they approved the bill, while Marin had opposed it and San Mateo, San Francisco and Contra Costa counties had not made their positions known.

However, Sen. Joseph A. Rattigan (D-Santa Rosa) said he objected to approving or disapproving of the bill on the basis of action taken by the counties.

"I object to the principle of government by Gallup poll," he said.

Allies Offer Russia Plan For Test Ban

GENEVA (UPI)—The United States and Britain formally offered Russia today a short-term moratorium on small underground nuclear test explosions if the Russians agreed to a treaty with cheat-proof guarantees against larger blasts.

The Soviets termed the proposal an "encouraging" step forward but said it needed clarification and intensive study before a reply could be made.

The proposal was worked out by President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan in three days of talks at Camp David, Md. this week.

It wass ubmitted to the Soviets by U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth and Britain's Sir Michael Wright at today's session—the 191st—of the three-nation nuclear test ban talks.

9 Candidates Aspire To 3 Seats On Sausalito Council

Nine candidates will contend at the polls April 12 for three positions on the Sausalito City Council.

There will be 10 names on the ballot, but the 10th candidate has withdrawn.

Unopposed are City Clerk Amelie M. Smith and City Treasurer Edwin Long.

Two incumbents, Mayor Howard Sievers and Philip S. Ehrlich Jr., are among the council candidates. The third incumbent whose term expires, John E. Koenig Jr., is not seeking re-election.

New aspirants for the council are Helen B. Kerr, Serge Trubach, L. Stuart Linton, Michael A. Harris, Leonard (Lee) Pieraccini, Edward L. Ripley and Carl G. Wooley.

William H. Ryan withdrew from the race after filing his petition of candidacy.

The nine are expected to be heard tonight at a candidates' night program at 8 o'clock at the Sausalito Women's Club.

Here are the contenders:

PHILIP S. EHRLICH JR., 37, an attorney, has served on the council by appointment since January, 1958, and now seeks a four-year term.

"As an incumbent," said Ehrlich, "my record demonstrates recognition of property rights, support for planning, waterfront acquisition for recreational use, and a sound fiscal policy—Sausalito has a low tax rate."

He cited his motions, adopted by the council, aimed at acquiring Shelter Cove water lots and resolving traffic and parking problems in the central city.

Of the Sausalito zoning ordinance, now under study, he declared: "I believe the proposed zoning ordinance is unsuited in many respects for Sausalito. Sound zoning must reflect the people's needs and wishes."

Ehrlich is head of the legal department of Crown-Zellerbach Corp. in San Francisco. He and his wife, Sheila, and three children, Elizabeth, Philip and Joel, reside at 22 Curry street.

Ehrlich is a native of San Francisco. He was a lieutenant (junior grade) in the Navy in World War II. He served on the Sausalito Planning Commission for two years before his appointment to the city council.

MICHAEL HARRIS, 37, is a San Francisco Chronicle reporter specializing in governmental affairs. He has been with the newspaper more than eight years.

Harris declared himself a strong believer in community planning, "especially in Sausalito with its limited space." He pointed particularly to the need for proper planning of the downtown and waterfront area.

A firm believer in conducting the public's business publicly, Harris had a hand in drafting the Brown Act—California's anti-secrecy law—after writing a series of newspaper articles on secret meetings by public boards.

He advocates an improved recreation program and additional support for the public library.

A native of New York and a graduate of University of Wisconsin, Harris was an Army Air Forces navigator in Europe during World War II. His home is at 33 Crescienta drive.

HELEN B. KERR, 47, only woman council candidate, also is a newspaper person. Now editor of Marin This Month, she formerly was editor of the Sausalito News (now the Marin News), worked on the Spokane (Wash.) Spokesman-Review and the San Francisco Progress, had her own paper in San Francisco, the Richmond District News, in 1954, and was editor for a time of the Pelican papers.

Mrs. Kerr declares she is a candidate for city council "because I have observed that ambivalent city management and bad city planning have encroached on the rights and comforts of the residents through thoughtless allowance of commercial enterprise to expend at an uncontrolled rate."

Said she: "I believe that Sausalito should remain a community of residents whose rights must be protected from get-rich-quick concessionaires and developers. I am a candidate for election because I am sure that the majority of Sausalito residents share this view."

Mrs. Kerr, a California native, has two daughters: Suzanne, 19, a student at Stanford University, and Barbara, 20, a student at Reed College in Portland. She took her own bachelor's degree from University of California and her master's from Columbia University.

She lives at 5 Josephine street.

L. STUART LINTON, 37, is an architectural designer and builder who does most of his work in Marin.

"I feel Sausalito must direct the tourist flow around the city to the north, maintain the central area largely for pedestrian traffic, using malls and plazas; encourage the necessary commerce for integrated community life and to provide a proper tax base," he said.

"Sausalito should develop creatively a waterfront and recreation space for utility and beauty for its residents. Sausalito should be permitted to grow in its residential areas with an ordinance more just and better related to Sausalito geography than that now proposed."

Linton is president of Marin Building Associates Inc. and former president of the Sausalito Art Center. He holds a bachelor's degree from St. John's College in Maryland and studied architectural engineering at University of Michigan and in Paris.

A Sausalito resident for seven years, he lives at 519-A Caledonia street with his wife, Patricia, and son, Adam, 5, and daughter, Sara, 3.

LEONARD (LEE) PIERACCINI, a Sausalito resident for more than 40 years, is a large property owner in the town. He and his brother, Al, own most of the 1200 block of Bridgeway and for 12 years operated a garage and service station business, which is now leased. For five years, Pieraccini has been chief engineer at Ross Hospital.

No city manager and planning consultant advocate, Pieraccini believes "Sausalito's problems can best be solved by an elective council rather than through expensive professional advice." He declares himself ready to devote his full time to the city and feels his knowledge of the community gained through long residency and many years in business will be of help "in ending frivolous spending of taxpayers' money."

He is opposed to the proposed zoning ordinance, declaring: "I believe the proposed ordinance would jeopardize property values. A zoning ordinance should represent the will of the majority of the people rather than a chosen few. My aim, if elected, will be to see that this is accomplished."

Pieraccini was born in Sonoma County but grew up in Sausalito and is a graduate of Tamalpais High School. He served 12 years on the Sausalito School District board and is a member of the city's personnel commission. He is a member of the advisory board of the Elks Lodge, past president and trustee of the Native Sons of the Golden West, past president of the Knights of Pythias, a charter member of Sea Point Parlor Drum and Bugle Corps of the Native Sons.

Pieraccini and his wife, Marie, reside at 305 Bonita street with their two sons, Leonard Jr., 18, a freshman at University of San Francisco, and Richard, 16, a junior at Tamalpais High School.

EDWARD L. RIPLEY, 27, youngest of the candidates, is a general partner in York and Co., San Francisco stock brokers.

Said Ripley:

"I am a candidate for city council because I believe the people of Sausalito are entitled to action in the solution of the city's problems. We have more and bigger problems today than ever before. They simply will not disappear and they will not be solved through rearguard action. What is needed is a full-scale immediate offensive.

"My platform consists solely of a pledge to the citizens to attack Sausalito's problems — not with handwringing platitudes or the 'committee shuffle' but with action, deeds and dispatch."

Ripley lives at 5 Josephine street — the same apartment house in which Mrs. Kerr has her home.

HOWARD SIEVERS, 48, the incumbent mayor, is an electrical engineer with Bechtel Corp. in San Francisco. He has lived in Sausalito since 1941.

Sievers is completing a four-year term on the council and declared:

"The experience I have gained in the last four years has given me a good understanding of the problems of Sausalito and the thinking of the people which would enable me to better serve the city in the future.

"There is still a great deal of work to be done to make the master plan effective. Since I do not like to leave a job half done, I would like to continue on the council and help develop the plan."

Sievers and his wife, Minnie, a member of the Sausalito School District board, live at 92 Central avenue. They have four children: William, a student at University of California in Berkeley; Robert, at San Francisco State College; Sherry, at Tamalpais High School, and Penny, at Richardson Bay School.

Sievers served in the Army in World War II and was a lieutenant colonel in the active reserve until his retirement three years ago.

ESCAPED MARIN KILLER

Police Still Seek Kidnap Suspect

Joseph Corbett Jr., the Berkeley student who was sent to prison in 1951 for the slaying of Sgt. Alan L. Reed of Hamilton Air Force Base, is still being sought today in connection with the disappearance of brewer Adolph Coors III.

But Corbett, 31, since his escape from Chino Prison five years ago, has had plenty of practice at evading the law. The Federal Bureau of Investigation, which has named Corbett on its list of the 10 most wanted men in the country, says the former San Quentin prisoner is being sought only as a fugitive from justice.

Coors, 44, vanished Feb. 9 while driving to work near Denver. He is chairman of the Coors Brewery and industrial complex.

Corbett checked out of his apartment the next day, and told his landlady he was enrolling as a student at the University of Colorado.

One week later, his 1951 model car was found burned and abandoned near Atlantic City, N.J.

Two persons said they saw such a car near Coors' foothills home several times before he disappeared.

Was it Corbett's car?

The Denver salesman who sold Corbett the auto last January recalled that Corbett balked at the yellow color. "He seemed to make quite a point of wanting a car more inconspicuous and conservative in color," said the salesman.

Corbett never was seen to drive or park this car near his east Denver apartment. Instead, he had one—possibly two—other cars. One he used frequently and kept clean and polished. The other other was an older car a neighbor saw him loading with boxes the morning of Feb. 10.

This car "looked like it had been splattered with dirty water," said the neighbor.

The rural area where Coors disappeared is marked by small streams and dirt roads.

Corbett escaped in 1955 from Chino Prison where he was serving a five year to life term for second degree murder.

Three Die As A.F. Tanker Is Ditched At Sea

PATRICK AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP)—An Air Force tanker with trouble in two of its four engines was ditched in the Atlantic 40 miles offshore last night.

Three of the 14 men aboard died. The others, some burned or in shock, were picked up by rescue craft.

Lt. John Rogers, first man to be picked out of moderately calm seas, was brought to this base by helicopter in good condition.

Surface craft, drawn to the scene by the flares and flashlights of the survivors, picked up the others.

DESTROYER FIRST

The destroyer Sullivans was the first surface craft to reach Port Canaveral. She carried one dead man and five survivors.

The Coast Guard cutter Bramble took aboard three men who previously has been picked up by the wine tanker Angelo Petri. The Bramble also had aboard it bodies of two men. The tanker Sherman Clark had the other two survivors.

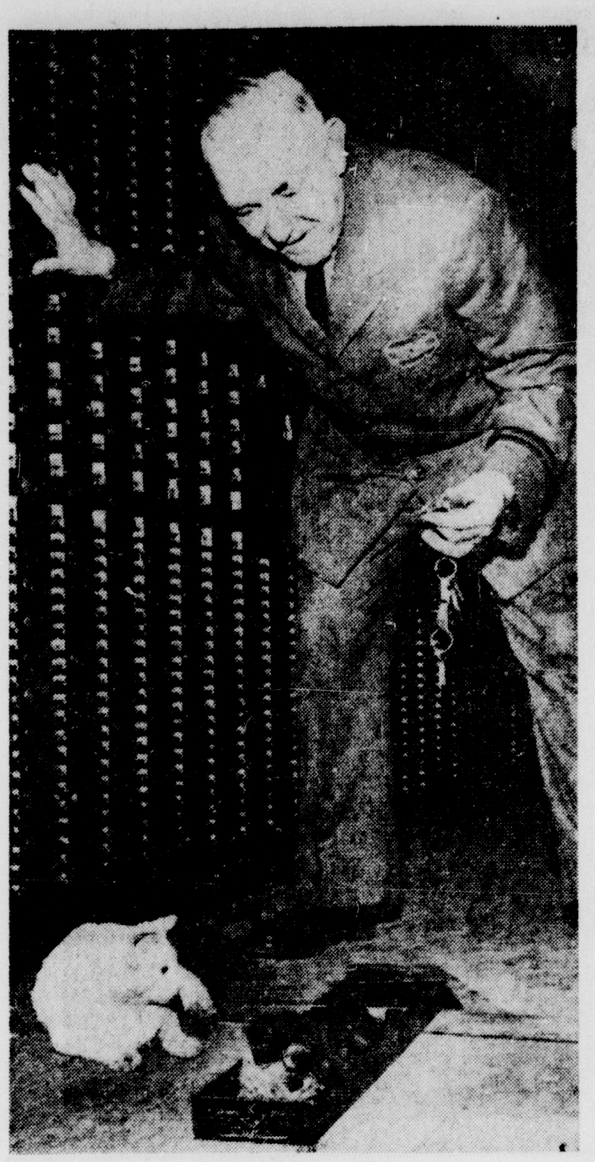

The KC97 Stratotanker, en route from Newfoundland to its home station, MacDill Air Force Base in Tampa, Fla., reportedly was ditched with only its No. 1 and No. 4 engines operating.

SPIED BY PILOTS

Rescue pilots spied floating crewmen in life jackets and rubber rafts in the darkness three hours after the plane went down.

The wine tanker Angelo Petri, which figured in the rescue operations, was the object of such operations herself last February.

She was driven onto a sand bar in the Pacific Ocean near the Golden Gate, but was finally brought to port by tugs after part of her crew was removed by helicopter.

DEPOSIT RECLAIMED

Paul Rosanski, a guard at a New York bank, looks at mother cat and kittens in bank's safe deposit vault yesterday. Kittens were found last week in corner of tool room. Yesterday, mother showed up at bank to claim litter. Mother apparently entered via open, but barred, ventilating window, gave birth and then departed. Rosanski placed litter in tin safe deposit box and has since fed them milk with a medicine dropper. (AP Wirephoto)

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Art Pillsbury, chief steward for the 1960 Mobilgas economy run, today released the route to be followed starting Saturday by the 56 American-made automobiles.

The longest route in the event's 24-year history—2,064 miles—it will take the entrants from Los Angeles to Minneapolis, Minn., across nine states and through 142 towns and cities.

Overnight stops will be made at Flagstaff, Ariz.; Tucumcari, N. M.; Wichita, Kans., and Des Moines, Iowa.

Drunk Drivers Draws Fine And Probation

Maurice William Marsh, 50, of 205 Vista Grande, Greenbrae, must pay $200 fine and remain on probation for six months because of his first drunken driving offense.

Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court sentenced Marsh yesterday for driving while intoxicated along Highway 101 on March 22.

American Art," has lived in Sausalito eight years.

Trubach finds "haphazard interest in cultural affairs in Sausalito." He proposes an art center, beautiful decorations in the post office—in fact, "art should be a part of the whole town."

"I would like to see Sausalito go forward to the good old days," said Trubach.

Born in the Ukraine, Trubach came to the United States at the age of 5 and gave his first art show at the age of 7 on a New York City sidewalk.

He has won many art awards, including the Tiffany Fellowship, the National Academy of Design fellowship, the Yaddo Fellowship and the Edward MacDowell Fellowship. He exhibited at both the Golden Gate International Exposition and the New York World Fair in 1939. He has taught at Boston's New England School of Art, at the Art League of San Francisco and the Academy of Arts in San Francisco. He is now a private teacher as well as doing paintings. He is on the board of the San Francisco branch of Artists Equity.

He lives and paints at 631 Bridgeway.

CARL G. WOOLEY, 65, has been a builder in Sausalito for 15 years. He has lived in California since 1915.

"I am a candidate for the city council," Wooley said, "because I think it should consist of a cross-section of Sausalito citizens. I think it is high time to get our feet on the ground and take a plain, common-sense approach to our problems, relying on ourselves to protect our people, their homes, investments and businesses.

"We cannot dodge the issue by calling in so-called experts from outside, whose chief interest is in the fees we pay them. We cannot turn back the clock, nor conjure up the sleepy village of long ago, but we can help it grow up in a sane and orderly manner."

Wooley has served two and one-half years on the Sausalito Planning Commission.

New Air Force Program Offered

The Air Force is now offering a new "medical specialist student program," it was announced by Sgt. Chester R. Thoren, Marin Air Force recruiter.

Accepted applications are commissioned as Air Force officers but will wear civilian clothes while attending school. A student therapist is required to pay tuition fees and other expenses, but will receive second lieutenant's pay and allowances at the same time.

The program is open to women only, and is open to students possessing bachelor's degrees and who have met certain academic prerequisites, and who are between the ages of 21 and 26. Detailed information is available at Thoren's office at 519 Fourth street, San Rafael.

County Issues 14 Building Permits

Fourteen building permits for construction valued at a total of $90,425 — including one for a six-unit, $19,400 motel—were issued by the Marin County Building Inspection Department last week.

The motel is to be built on Marine way in Stinson Beach by contractor Charles J. Hendrickson.

The department also issued seven permits for the City of Novato for construction valued at a total of $87,940.

Now Is Time To Find Out About Election Candidates

"Democracy at work." That's what we are seeing in Marin with the approach of municipal elections in nine of Marin's 10 incorporated cities. (The tenth city, San Rafael, operates under an ancient charter which provides for off-year elections.)

Actually, we are not a democracy in the classic sense; we are a republic. We don't conduct city business in a citizens' meeting. We elected representatives to conduct our city business.

And it is this republican function of choosing representatives that now is about to take place.

When election day arrives April 12, be sure to vote.

"It doesn't make any difference how you vote just as long as you vote."

Remember that old saw?

It strikes us as all wrong.

It certainly does make a difference how you vote. We rather imagine that the corrupt politicians in control of some big eastern cities we read about hold office because too many people are indifferent or careless about whom they vote for.

Sounder advice is to acquaint yourself with the candidates, learn as much as you can about what each stands for and then vote your preference. That way we will have no political gang rule in Marin.

How do you get acquainted with the candidates?

The I-J has and is printing material about each, one city at a time. Reading this information carefully will provide a good start toward knowing the candidates in your city.

Then watch for a "candidates' night" when all the candidates are invited to state their views in open meeting.

Candidates' nights have become a great institution in Marin. Each election, more are held and they are better attended.

We wish the attendance was even better. So long as citizens make the effort to know the candidates they vote for, we will have good government here.

We urge your attendance at candidates' night in your town, in preparation for the coming elections.

Sparrows In The Fruit Trees

Although not as well-known as the Christmas partridge in a pear tree, flocks of various kinds of sparrows in Marin's blossoming fruit trees are every bit as seasonal.

Last week we had them in our quince, this week they are in our pear blossoms and next week they will be in our apples. The little fellows stuff themselves with the petals as though the pink things were a Caesar salad. And while eating they make sparrow small-talk.

Birds are quite valuable agents in pollenating the blossoms. They rank along with bees and the wind in this regard. Those in our trees were English sparrows and at least one golden-crown sparrow, judging from its glorious song.

Later on in the season when they peck the fruit, birds will not be such welcome orchard chums. But right now, birds, and particularly small ones like sparrows, are regarded as friends of man. Flirting about among the blossoms, any birds is mighty attractive.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

HE TRUSTS BANKS NOW

A man who didn't trust banks had good reason to change his mind recently. He lost a wallet containing his life's savings of $35,000.

Ever since 1932, the 78-year-old man carefully accumulated every dollar that could be spared from his salary as a city employee in Chicago.

He valued his slowly growing treasure so much that he carried it with him at all times. He was afraid of taking even the slightest risk involved in depositing it in a bank.

Confidence in itself is a virtue when properly controlled. But it can become a vice when it passes the bounds of reason and blinds us to our own limitations and defects.

Your material welfare depend on your showing good sense in guarding your earthly wealth. You should be even more judicious in protecting the spiritual treasures that endure for all eternity.

"Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither rust nor moth consumes, nor thieves break in and steal."
(Matthew 6:20)

Guard me, O Holy Spirit, against my own blindness regarding the eternal salvation of myself and others.

Modern Era Produces Its Share Of Heroes Who Rise Above Crowd

NEW YORK (AP) — Every era produces its own heroes, those sons of time and destiny who stand out from the crowd.

In our caveman past, the man of the hour was the guy who could biff a saber-toothed tiger in the nose with a club and make it purr like a kitten.

In days of old, when knights were bold, it was the fellow on horseback who could stick his iron lance into a charging dragon and convert him into a chunk of smoking shish-kebab.

During World War II it was the GI Joe who could serve four years in the Army — and never do latrine duty.

But who are the shining heroes of our civilization today?

Here are a few unconventional nominees:

Any man who can catch a common head cold and keep it a secret.

Anyone with the courage to defy the mob by saying, "No, I don't hate cocktail parties. I like them."

The wife who can zip up and unzip her dress without crying for male help.

The fat man bold enough to eat a nut-topped fudge sundae without whining, "My psychiatrist says I need sweets to bolster my sense of security."

Any mother brave enough to spank a naughty child in public.

Any father sensible enough to back such a mother up.

Any fellow smart enough to figure a way to beat the races, considerate enough to let the rest of us in on his system.

The first taxpayer who finds an honest way to cheat the government.

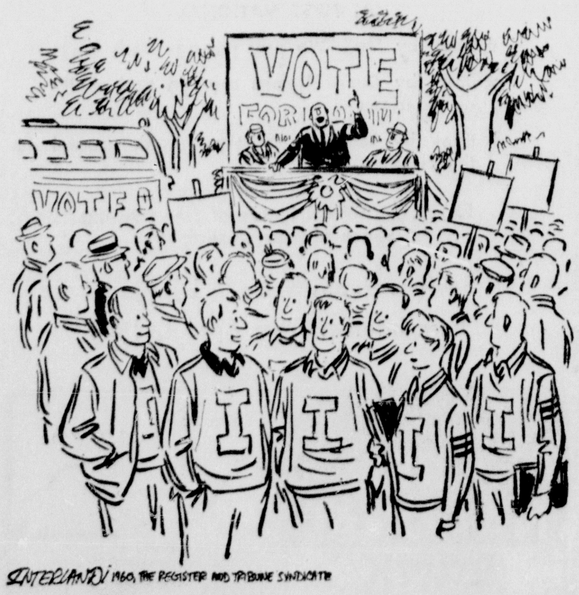

The first politician who announces, "What this country needs is a good five-cent hot dog" and produces it.

One wife — one single, solitary wife — who would break out with hives if she even started to use the phrase, "I told you so."

One husband — one single, solitary husband — who could truthfully complain to his wife. "Darling, why don't you talk to me anymore?"

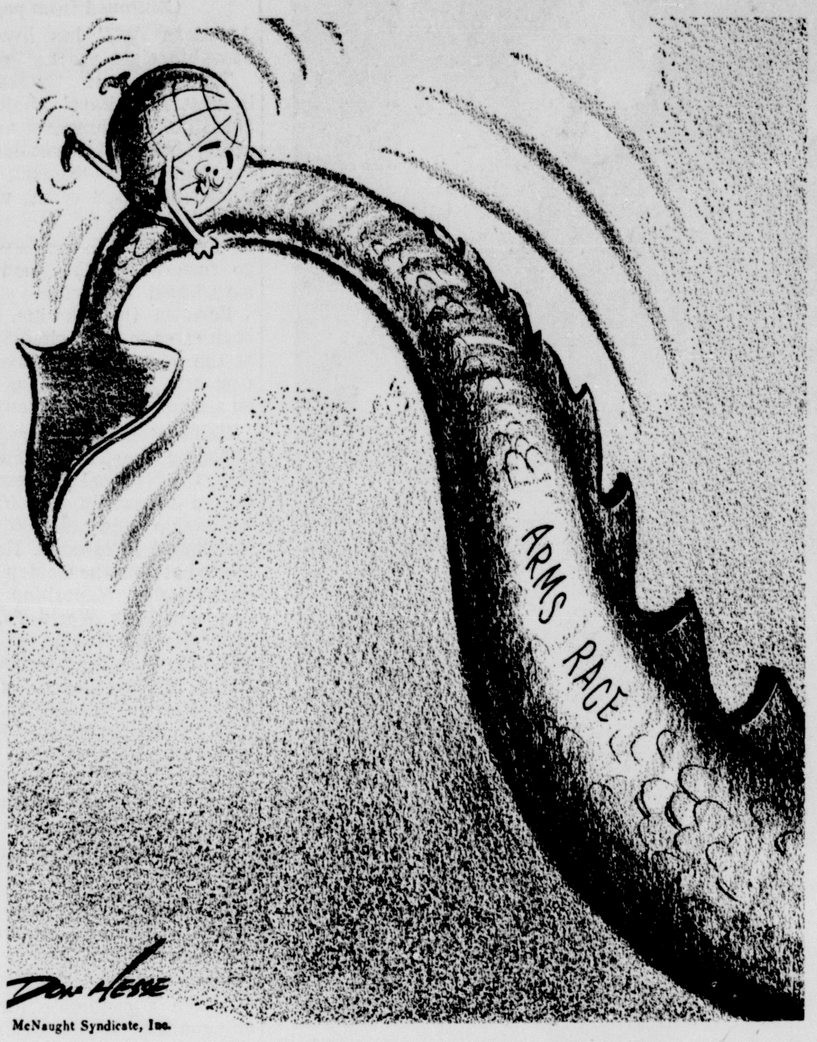

The first doctor of 1960 who buys himself a new horse and buggy.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

World Must Act In South Africa

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

As a Rhodesian, I speak with some knowledge of lower African matters. To me the slaughter of women and children, along with the men who were there at Sharpsville, is the beginning of the debacle.

Until now, there was some due process of law. The police could move about fairly freely and on the whole, hope for a settlement was a possibility, particularly as world opinion, strengthened by MacMillan's statement in Cape Town, was forcing the nationalists to realize the truth.

The pass laws in themselves are neither hard nor unjust, but it is in their application that indignity is brought upon the natives. Childlike in many ways, the African is nevertheless an adult, and with all other privilege denied them, this last violation of the basic freedom of man was the straw that broke their backs.

However, there was still hope, and there would still be hope, if the demonstrations had been correctly summarised. The natives wanted to make a strong and effective protest. They gathered outside the most obvious sources of authority, the police stations, and the answer was simply to have listened, and discussed this matter with dignity. To have first ordered him to disperse was an insult to their sincerity; to then have attempted force was the fuse lit.

Now the hopes are gone within that land. No longer will peaceful negotiation be possible. The writing has been writ, to coin a phrase, and the next sentence will be in blood.

However, Rhodesia may help by ordering all of its Africans out of the mines, closing its borders to the labor forces that stream there annually, and by a firm, forthright stand on the side of liberalism.

I do not say that this is likely, but there is a hope that it is possible. Britain can ask the other dominions to discuss the expulsion economically as well as figuratively, of South Africa from the Commonwealth. The United States can cut aid. South Africa can be told in blunt, honest words that her behaviour is nothing short of violation of the basic freedoms of man, and that her government is in effect a murderous dictatorship.

South Africa should also be labelled in the same color as Russia, Spain and Cuba — whatever the political tag, she is still an aggressor, and a Police State.

The saddest thing about all this is that the African is not at heart a militant person. He is a simple, honest and bewildered subject, no more concerned with politics than you or I, but he is most concerned about his opportunity to be able to earn a living, and for his sons to learn and become knowledgeable.

What frustrates him is that no matter how much he works or learns, he is vigorously limited in scope to remain ever the servant of the whites, and the drawer of water and the hewer of wood. Using this frustration, the politicos — who don't care a fig how they win — are stirring the natives to burst out.

South Africa could well answer that call. Now that they have answered it by guns, they will have too, an answer.

Pray to God that the world will act first, but after sitting on their fannies over Hungary who can expect them to rise off it now?

'Stop Kennedy' Drive Underway By Other Democratic Hopefuls

WASHINGTON — The race for the Democratic Presidential nomination is entering a new stage and events the next few weeks may well determine whether there will be any contest at all at the Los Angeles convention in July.

We are witnessing a momentum-gathering "stop Kennedy" drive on the part of the other principal contenders. There is no conspiracy. There is no common plan of strategy. There doesn't need to be. The supporters of Adlai Stevenson, Sens. Stuart Symington, Lyndon Johnson, and Hubert Humphrey, all know, without holding a conference, that they must gather delegates now or there might not be any left by July.

All in the span of the past few days Mr. Stevenson's supporters began a concentrated drive for the two-time nominee, Sen. Symington publicly announced his candidacy, Sen. Humphrey stepped up his campaign in Wisconsin, and the Texas-based Johnson-for-President clubs spread their net further across the country.

The objectives of all four were the same — to prevent a first-ballot nomination at Los Angeles. At present their efforts are in no way concerted, nor is there talk of trying to pool their strength. There will be 1,521 delegate votes and their aim is to keep 900 or more of them divided between them and a few favorite sons.

Whether this can be achieved will depend on two developments: how much headway the Stevenson and Symington people can make in the next few weeks and how well Humphrey does in the Wisconsin primary on April 5.

THE STEVENSON backers, who are putting out harder today than at any time in the past year, are hitting at Kennedy with the very argument he has been using to advantage — that Kennedy would be the strongest Democratic opponent of Richard Nixon. This argument, which has been a powerful weapon in the Kennedy arsenal because there has been no counter-evidence, is being attached head-on by the Stevenson people. They are now mailing to influential Democratic leaders in every state a heretofore unpublished poll conducted by Louis Bean, the economist and political statistician who was one of the few predicting President Truman's election in 1948.

Until the Louis Bean survey Mr. Kennedy has had this argument pretty much his own way. He has been able to cite a sequence of Gallup polls which showed him running consistently better than any other Democrat against Mr. Nixon. The latest show Nixon defeating Stevenson and Kennedy drawing even with Nixon for the first time. Now Mr. Bean brings in a dissenting poll — always a healthy thing — which records Stevenson running better than Kennedy against Nixon in four key cities, actually defeating Nixon by the sizable percentage of 54 to 46. Mr. Bean also holds that the Stevenson defeats by Mr. Eisenhower would have no bearing on the pattern of voting this fall.

SEN. KENNEDY knows that he can't afford to divide the Wisconsin delegation with Sen. Humphrey or to win less than decisively. This is his own candid judgment and he put it bluntly in a television interview with Sen. Kenneth Keating of New York. He said only last week: "It would be extremely difficult to get nominated if I didn't win in Wisconsin. I believe that, and I think that my hope of being nominated rests with being successful in the primaries, demonstrating that I have the support of the majority of voters in the Democratic party."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By RANDALL GOULD

Every Day Newspaper Comes Out, Staff Must Answer For Content

POLITICIANS and newsfolk have one thing in common: Their business is everybody's business, and no constituent is so humble or stupid but that he couldn't do their job considerably better than they do, and one hand tied behind his back.

The irritating thing about this concept is that it's at least half true.

As our brethren and sistern of realms political humbly offer themselves to the electorate, they are more than frank in reducing themselves to the common level, though perhaps a little less than modest in confessing their abilities.

This causes reflection on how we of the press, luckily not elected save by the managing editor (who can also put us out of office any minute, and might) are clearly vulnerable every day the paper comes out.

We are our own worst critics but our friends do pretty well too. As to the advertisers — well, the hoary theory that newspaper people cower abjectly under the lash of the people who pay the ad bills is a lot of poodle-wash and so recognized (in Marin we don't wash hogs, we wash poodles). But an advertiser suffering from a misprint can be heard to Tomales and beyond.

ONCE IN A WHILE, it has to be confessed, there's justification. A recent I-J. ad blandly announced the price of a certain new car as $0000. It was an econmy car but not THAT economical. Somebody had forgot to mark out the manufacturer's dummy price and mark in the Marin price. We never dared to collect statistics on how many dealers gave away how many cars that day.

To get back to the news room but still in the automotive realm, this scribe recently wrote up the new tiny racing "kart" which has just inated Marin.

The news editor questioned the spelling of that word "kart" and the reporter proudly stuck to his know-it-all guns. So what happened? In a few days up came a letter from Azusa pointing out that we'd referred to a "go kart" and further pointing out the two words together constitute the trade name of a certain brand of kart.

Similar problems plague the new writer in a dozen realms. "Coke" is an old story. There are lots of cola drinks but be mighty sure you don't carelessly speak in print of any drink but one as a Coke; and see that you use a capital letter.

George Eastman invented the trade name "Kodak" and his company tried for years to prevent its use for just any camera. Now the word has got into the dictionairies, attributing the invention to Eastman all right but adding that while it's a trademarked name it is "now popularly applied to almost any hand camera" — without a capital letter, either.

SPEAK OF a "realtor" and you're in prompt trouble unless you are talking about a real estate man who belongs to a certain national group.

"Ping-pong" means equipment made by a certain manufacturer. If you don't refer to his gadgets you are talking, we learn, of "table tennis."

Recently there's been talk of conferring on certain lucky Marin communities the healthful joys of "trampolene" setups. So help me, that seemingly means just one maker, otherwise it's "rebound tumbling equipment."

Not public sensitivity but some sort of fool actual law in California prevents continued use of that grand old name "saloon" for grogshops.

Our state's mealy-mouthed legal quirk on that point is a source of almost constant pain and frequent sneerings, on the part of Lucius Beebe's free-spoken Virginia City Enterprise up in unfettered Nevada.

Mr. Beebe and his raffish managing editor Bob Richards each week set us all a fine example by printing precisely what they like. Politicians never behave that way. But the press still profits, and has fun along with the risk, by trying to please itself first of all. Quite a lot of readers will go along with such policy intelligently carried out.

HENRY MacARTHUR

Free Enterprise May Return To Printing Of State Text Books

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The California Legislature during the 1960 budget session took at least a partial step toward restoring the printing of state textbooks to the realm of free enterprise, even if it did not go the full route.

The 1960-61 budget provides that textbooks may be purchased from private concerns instead of being printed in the state printing office if they cost no more than 10 per cent of what the state would need to produce the same books.

Whether this will produce any business for private textbook publishers remains to be seen, but in any event it is a step forward from the mass production of books in the California state printing office.

FOR MANY YEARS the question of printing state textbooks has been bruited about, with the bureaucrats winning the battle. The action of the legislature may be a set-back for the proponents of state printing, perhaps not immediately, but in the future.

What many people don't know is that many districts buy the privately-published textbooks with their own money anyhow, and stack the less desireable state-produced books on the shelves, where they never see the light of day.

This practice is admitted by officials of the State Department of Education, who say it is becoming more and more widespread.

Thus, the public is paying double for the textbooks, once on the district level for books the students actually use, and once to support the bureaucrats in the state printing office, for books that go on the shelves, and go unused for instruction of California's young people.

Senator Jonathon Proctor of Vermont jumped to his feet and added gleefully, "Yes, my respected colleague—and we all vote!"

Marinite Visits Phoenix, Gives His Impressions Of The Giants

CONNOLLY

(Every once in a while it is nice to sit back and see the current sports scene through the eyes of a friend. Could be you would like to look over my shoulder and read the observations of my chief scout and hot stove league companion, Doc Randol of Kentfield.) He says:

PHOENIX — Dear John: I find it mighty easy to follow you into the Giants' training camp here in the Valley of the Sun. The way has been well paved with respect for your standing in the newspaper fraternity. (You may now blush modestly!)

Our Giants are just coming out of the doldrums that always hit the middle of the training season. Aches, pains, liniment and sheer boredom are being packed into one of the big traveling boxes that litter the dressing room at Phoenix Municipal Stadium and players and officials are beginning to whet the sharp edge of anticipation of the new season that will start in two weeks.

EVERYONE has his fingers crossed about the infield. Big Willie "Stretch" McCovey came to camp way over his last year's playing weight. Everyone thought this was a good sign that Willie was at ease and the extra pounds would add to his great power. Only trouble is that Willie not only "ain't hitting 'em where they ain't," he just ain't hitting 'em. Somewhere along the line he picked up a crouch and is crowding the plate so that he is now a sucker for the low inside pitch, and that is all he is getting. Against the Boston Red Sox, Stretch stood up straight for the first time and began to look like the McCovey that burned up the league last year. Work and worry have shed pounds and his playing weight will be a solid 200. Willies ground work is not the greatest, but his tremendous reach is going to help the club on the close calls at first.

At second base, the "Blazer" Don Blasingame is still stuck in the mier of spring training. Always a slow starter, Blaze is beginning to look better but still has everyone worried. The day the wire service told us that Daryl Spencer had had three home runs there was some head shaking. For my money, I'll have to go with the record. A man who can lead the league in 1959 with 143 singles and who had 70 walks, you just gotta go along with him. And what a pleasure it is to hear a few whistles and chirps from out yonder. The Blazer is a holler guy, and should be a real team leader in no time at all.

EDDIE BRESSOUD has taken over shortstop as if he had been there all his life. The fans welcomed him last year after Andy Rodgers' dismal efforts. This year I have a hunch he is going to be something of an idol. He covers the ground, makes the plays and is slugging the ball with authority. He'll do.

One morning I watched Doc Bowman fit a shin guard on Jimmy Davenport's leg. Everyone feels certain that this great little guy will be on the firing line on opening day, and I sure hope they are right. When it comes to baseball I'm as superstitious as they make 'em, and I can't shake the conviction that Jimmy is hexed by the stars. I don't know anything about the relative positions of Venus and Mars just now, but I wish someone would shoot a sputnik at them and change Jimmy's luck.

THE GIANTS lost the pennant last year when Davenport was injured, and they aren't apt to be a winner this year without him. So keep your fingers crossed and pull for this great little competitor with the magic hands. Should the Gods frown, Joe Amalfitano will plug the gap in fair fashion with his bat and his lively chatter making up for any fielding deficiencies.

Infield subs are Dan O'Connell, Jose Pagan and Rodgers, and I think Andy has the best chance to stay with the parent club in spite of his 1959 freeze-up. Andy has looked good in training, and if the fans don't ride him on his first appearance he may make it. Pagan needs more seasoning, and O'Connell may be trade bait when the brass starts looking for pinch hitters to warm the bench.

The outfield of Orlando Cepeda, Willie Mays, Willie Kirkland and Felipe Alou is the most solid in the major leagues today. Cepeda will surprise as a left fielder. The "Chief" is such a natural athlete that he could play any position with practice. Kirkland has more poise and confidence than last year, and is actually making his catches in a graceful manner. And those muscles! Look for Willie K. to have a sensational year.

EVERYONE is anticipating the sight of Willie Mays patrolling the spacious centerfield at Candlestick Park. They don't make better catches than the one that Wilile made off the bat of Haywood Sullivan of the Red Sox Sunday. But I don't want too many moments like those that came when Mays crashed the fence and then lay still for seconds that seemed like years. Maybe they should pad the fences at Candlestick—call Harney and see if he'll throw it in free of charge!

Felipe Alou is a tough one to figure. I suspect he would be a great if he could play more regularly. And his little brother Matty is a comer. When Matty's little brother Jesus moves up in the chain we may have three Alou boys on the Giants at one time.

CATCHING is the same problem it was last year. Hobie Landrith must be the tryingest receiver in baseball, and I think he is underrated because of his size. This year may help Hobie if he realizes the fences are too far away at Candlestick and he goes for the singles a la Blasingame.

Big Bob Schmidt is working himself into a case over his failure to hit the good pitchers. Bob is so eager he is swinging before he sees the ball and the smart chuckers are fooling him with the change of pace.

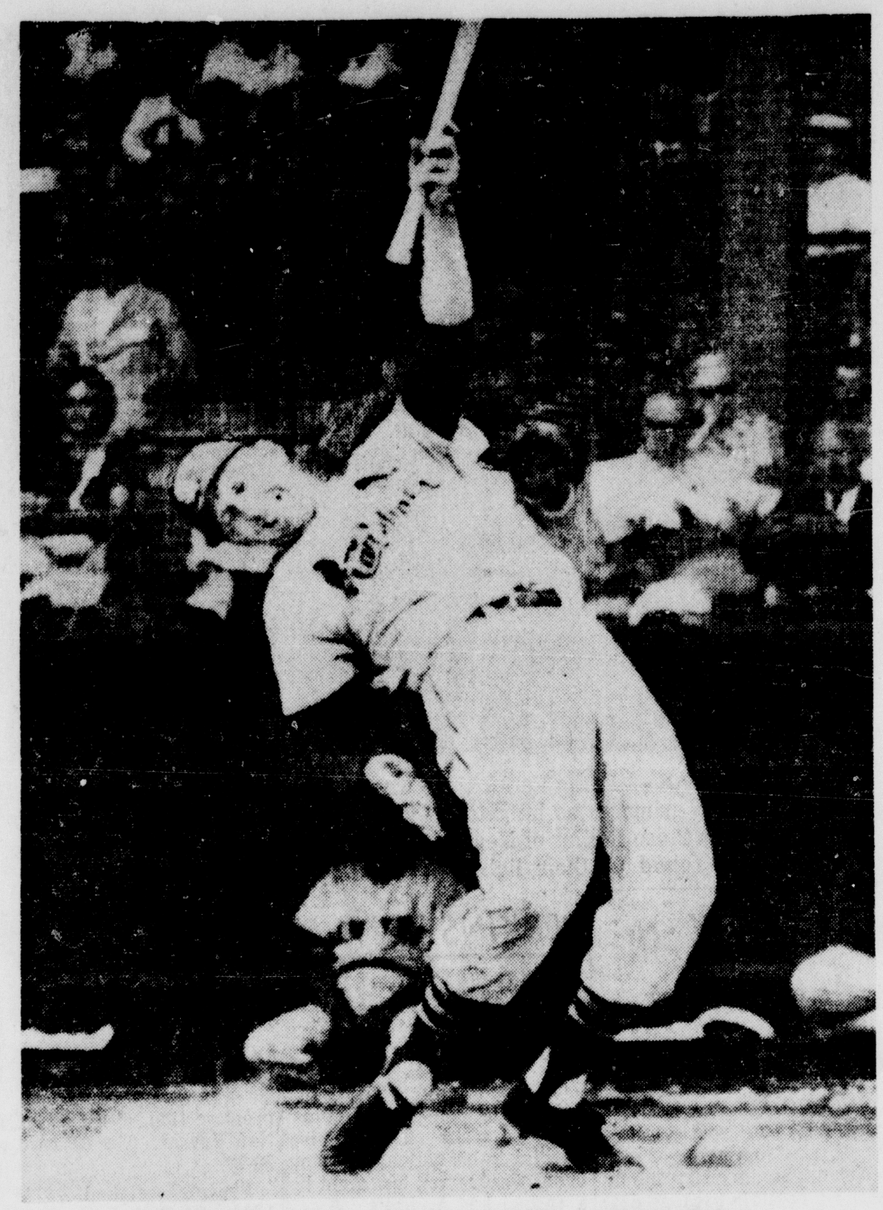

Al Stieglitz may hang on for a while but will probably end up in Tacoma for another year.

I'd like to think I helped Bob Schmidt a little, anyhow. I was chewing the fat with trainer Doc Bowman when he called Bob over and asked me to take a look at his mouth. Schmidty had a spike of bone growing out of the area where he had had a wisdom tooth removed some time ago, and it was wearing out his tongue and his disposition. I felt like Androcles when he removed the thorn from the lion's foot when I slipped out the piece of bone!! Doc says he owes me an autographed baseball for my fee — and I'm going to collect it, too.

PITCHING Coach Sailor Bill Posedel (and there's a helluva swell guy) told me that all the southpaws and northpaws were coming around in good style. Bill has had 21 flingers under his wing, but the cutting down process is coming fast and the number is dwindling. With any kind of luck the Giants should be loaded with three starting southpaws in Billy O'Dell, Mike McCormick and Johnny Antonelli and three starting right-handers in Sam Jones, Jack Sanford and Stu Miller. Relief work will probably come from Billy Loes and Ramon Monzant and perhaps from a couple of youngsters who show promise.

Well, so much for now. It's been fun and a pleasant change from looking down in the mouth all the time. See you in Kentfield soon.

Your faithful "bird dog,"
ED RANDOL

Sherry Whets L.A. Dodgers' Flag Appetite

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

There's nothing like a dash of Sherry to whet the Los Angeles Dodgers' appetites for the new season.

And so the world champions are feeling like they can do it again because Larry Sherry seems ready to pick up right where he left off in the World Series last fall. Then, it may be recalled, he appeared in all four Dodger victories and gained credit for two of them.

The hard-throwing 24-year-old right-hander made his fourth appearance of the spring yesterday and picked up the win in the Dodgers' 7-2 triumph over the Milwaukee Braves. Sherry yielded two runs in the first inning, but shut out the Braves for the next five. He yielded a total of four hits, walked one batter and struck out four.

In 19 innings this spring, Sherry has allowed six earned runs for a fine 2.74 earned run mark. Larry didn't report to the Dodgers until mid-season in 1959, but wound up with a 7-2 record and won the first playoff game with the Braves before going on to smother the Chicago White Sox in the series.

JAY BLASTED

Sherry helped his own cause with a two-run single in the second inning and Wally Moon hit a three-run double in the fourth to spark the Dodgers' 11-hit attack. The Dodgers combed Joey Jay for nine hits and all their runs in four innings.

Mickey Mantle hit his first homer of the spring, but there was more bad news for the New York Yankees as the St. Louis Cardinals downed them, 6-2. It was the Cardinals' fourth victory in five games with the Yankees and clinched the spring series. It was the Yankees' 12th defeat in 18 games.

Giants Had Better Win Flag...Or Else!

By OSCAR FRALEY

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Fearless Fraley's rambling reflections on the sports world in general:

The San Francisco fans look for the Giants to win. Their only out is to move back to New York, or farther, should they fall. . . .

Johnny Longden, 50 going on 60 and back to ride at Bay Meadows, has to win any photo as the most durable athlete of they fail . . .

I wouldn't want to bat against Herb Score unless I could wear a suit of armor and stand in the "on deck" circle. . . .

Floyd Patterson should beat Ingemar Johansson for the heavyweight title in their return, unless by that time he's too old to raise his arms. . . .

Red Schoendienst, back at second base for the Braves, has to win anybody's poll as the most courageous player in baseball. . . .

Frank Howard has as much chance to stick with the Dodgers this year as Carol Heiss has of opening an ice palace in Tahiti. . . .

One look at this California sunshine is enough to prove to anybody that winter sports are for penguins and sled dogs. . . .

Ken Venturi has built the same kind of mental sand trap about the Masters as Sam Snead has about the U.S. Open. . . .

I look for Willie Mays to have one of those great "Say Hey" years. . . .

And for the National League again to stage a better race than the American League. . . .

Pro football players are having a financial field day in the talent scramble between the two leagues and even second line players are getting more attention than a fat lady in a bikini. . . .

If the Russians have so many muscles, let's see 'em win the shot put in the Rome Olympics—and I'll even lay 'em a price. . . .

Arnold Palmer goes like Gangbusters on golf's winter "pool tables" but lacks the "touch" game to romp on the big summer courses. . . .

It still sends chills up my back everytime I think of how those Yankee kids won the Olympic ice hockey championship. . . .

Hunch bettors will kayo any "system" the bangtails ever saw but the only way to win is to own the race track. . . .

Mary, queen of Scots, may have been the first woman golfer but Babe Didrikson Zaharias was the best I ever saw. . . .

Giant Staff Riddled By Red Hot Cubs

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—The San Francisco Giants, still suffering from shock as the result of a barrage of base hits by the Chicago Cubs, were scheduled to meet the friendlier Cleveland Indians today in an exhibition baseball game.

Manager Bill Rigney said he might let pitcher Jack Sanford go all the way against the Tribe—but he won't make it if the Indians pick up where the Cubs left off.

The Chicago team defeated the San Franciscans, 13-10, in Mesa yesterday—and the Cubs out-hit, out-ran and out-played the team that has been picked by many to win the National League pennant.

The Cubs battered Johnny Antonelli for three runs on six hits in two innings, rapped Stu Miller for five hits and six runs in three and one-third frames, and got five hits and four runs off Billy Loes in an inning and two-thirds. Bud Byerly hurled one inning and allowed one hit.

17-HIT ASSAULT

Tony Taylor, Lou Johnson and Ernie Banks led Chicago's 17-hit attack with three each—including homers by Johnson and Banks. Chicago also got help from four Giant errors.

The Giants got nine hits, including a homer by Willie Mays—but it was nearly a costly one. The centerfielder wrenched his left ankle as he loped around third base and will ride the bench for a day or so.

Joe Amalfitano singled and doubled as leadoff man for San Francisco, and newly-acquired Jim Marshall tripled home two runs.

The Chicago victory moved the Cubs into a Cactus League deadlock with the Giants. Each team has a record of 9-7, and Chicago has beaten San Francisco four out of six games.

Owens Has Change Of Heart, Returns To The Phillies

CLEARWATER, Fla. (UPI) — Pitcher Jim Owens of the Philadelphia Phillies decided today to grin and bear $600 in fines rather than risk his promising baseball career.

Owens, a 26-year-old right-hander who had a 12-12 record with the last-place Phillies in 1959, threatened to quit the club yesterday, but reconsidered last night after a conference with General Manager John Quinn. Owens had been fined a total of $600 for breaking the Phillies' curfew rule the night of March 5.

Owens was fined $100 by Manager Eddie Sawyer and then assessed an additional $500 by Club President Bob Carpenter. Quinn said Owens and Carpenter had a private agreement over Owens' involvement in off-the-field incidents.

PARADE OF TALENT

Olympic Cage Tryouts Open—It's A Tossup

DENVER (AP)—Denver becomes the showcase for some of the finest basketball ever played tonight as 96 of the nation's top amateur players start shooting in the opening rounds of the 1960 Olympic Trials.

Berths on the U.S. Olympic team and a trip to Rome await 12 of the best when the action ends Saturday night.

There will be talent to spare paraded before sellout crowds of 12,000 fans at the Coliseum the next three nights. The opening round shapes up like this (times PST):

4:30 p.m.—Akron, Ohio, vs. Armed Forces All-Stars.

6 p.m.—Ohio State vs. NAIA All-Stars.

7:30 p.m. — Bartlesville, Okla., vs. NCAA University All-Stars.

9 p.m. — Peoria, Ill., vs. NCAA All-Stars.

There's little to choose between any of the teams. All have height, strength, scoring punch and experience. All have able coaches who have termed their squads dream teams.

DRAKE SWIMMER SETS RECORD IN 100 FREE

Drake High School swimmer Peter Saugues established a new school and pool record for the 100-yard freestyle yesterday with a 52.9-second clocking at Drake's pool.

Sagues splashed through the century in a dual meet against the outstanding Las Lomas High School team to erase a four-year-old record held by former Drake star Mike Zeller. The former record was 53.3.

Sagues also won the 50 free in 23.9 and Drake's only other victory was a 1:11.8 clocking by John Hendry in the 100 breast. Las Lomas won the varsity meet, 68-27 and Class B by 42-34. A 58.3 seconds time in the 100 free by Drake's Denny Smith was a highlight.

Monzant's Trip From Venezuela May Have Been All For Nothing

HANLEY

PHOENIX, Ariz. — Ramon Monzant, on the Giant inactive list last season, has not been very active this spring. The slim right hander from Maracaibo might have made a long trip from Venezuela this year for nothing. Well, not exactly nothing. He still might be effective in Tacoma.

In his first Cactus League appearance this spring, Monzant was unimpressive. It was on March 16 that he worked three innings. Then, there was a two week period of inactivity, similar to the one preceding his March 16 debut. In that initial performance of 1960, Monzant walked three Cubs, gave two of them hits, one a homer by Tony Taylor, totaling in all three markers.

There are not likely to be many more spring opportunities for him to prove himself. The reason is that from here on in, Bill Rigney will be working his front line pitchers seven or more innings. That opening date of April 12 with the Cardinals in Candlestick is getting closer and closer and there are only 10 exhibition games left.

AFTER THE front liners, Sam Jones, Johnny Antonelli, Jack Sanford, Billy O'Dell, Mike McCormick and Stu Miller, not to mention No. 1 and No. 2 relievers Billy O'Dell and Bud Byerly, get their innings in, there won't be much left for Monzant and the rookies still remaining on the pitching staff.

Rigney lopped three of the rookies, Marshall Renfroe, Eddie Fisher and Vic Davis, last weekend. More may be cut this weekend but they may not be rookies because Monzant is running behind the trio of rookies still here — Don Choate, Julio Navarro and Joe Shipley.

IN ONE outing Byerly looked very sharp. He took over in the bases-loaded situation and struck out two pinch-hitters, Vic Wertz and Lee Howell.

In addition to Choate, Navarro and Shipley there is another rookie pitcher still in camp. He is Georges Maranda, an 18-6 winner at Louisville last season. Rigney has high hopes for his French Canadian but has not used him in the Cactus League this spring because Maranda has a sore arm.

IN FILLING the last two spots on the pitching roster, careful consideration will be given Shipley. This is his third and last chance with the Giants who would have to ask waivers on him if he is not retained. There is a feeling other National League clubs would claim the fireballer in the belief he ultimately will get control of his fast ball.

Shipley one-hit the Cubs in three innings last Saturday and struck out three, walking one. That one walk for him was a superb performance. He usually walks them in batches.

IN HIS first outing on March 18, also against the Cubs, he again only walked one during the two innings he worked. The Cubs managed two singles on March 18. When Shipley goes to the mound no batter takes a toehold. He keeps them loose.

Braves' Pilot Confident Of N.L. Flag

BRADENTON, Fla. (UPI)— Charlie Dressen, the chipper little Milwaukee skipper who has waited a long time to get the specific kind of "horses" he always wanted, finally has 'em now and is convince he can lead them into the winner's circle come October.

Everyone in baseball remembers how well Dressen did when he had "my kind of ball players" as a manager in Brooklyn.

Everyone also recalls what a flop Charlie was at Washington when he couldn't maneuver because of the lack of talent.

Now with the Braves, Dressen has hitters like Hank Aaron, Ed Mathews and Joe Adcock, along with pitchers like Warren Spahn, Lew Burdette and Bob Buhl.

SCHOENDIENST BACK

In addition, he apparently has a sound Red Schoendienst back at second base. No wonder the cocky little Milwaukee pilot is rubbing his hands in anticipation of the start of the pennant race.

"I think we have a better team than Los Angeles," he says, "and even though the Giants may be tough, I feel we can beat them, too."

He thinks his pitching "is as good as any around," but plans on giving Joey Jay (6-11), Juan Pizarro (6-2) and Carlton Willey (5-9) more work.

"That way I'll be able to give Burdette and Spahn a little more rest," Dressen explains.

Both Burdette and Spahn won 21 games last season while Buhl won 15.

RELIEF STAFF

For relief there's fast-balling Don McMahon (5-3) and the veteran Bob Rush (5-6). Rush also may be spotted as a starter if Jay, Pizzaro and Willey do not come through as well as Dressen expects.

Three spots in the infield are set—Schoendienst at second, Johnny Logan at short and Mathews at third. Adcock and Frank Torre probably will split the first base job. For infield reserves there are Felix Mantilla, Mel Roach and Chuck Cottier.

Dressen has been giving Roach a shot in the outfield as well as third base.

INSURANCE MAN

Although Dressen is convinced that Schoendienst, who was out last season with tuberculosis, will be able to put in a full season, he will keep Cottier, just in case the redhead needs relief now and then. Cottier isn't much with the bat, hitting only .226 at Louisville last season and .125 with the Braves, but can get the job done in the field.

Aaron, who won the National League batting title last season with a .355 average, will be in right field with Billy Bruton in center and Wes Covington in left.

QUESTION MARK

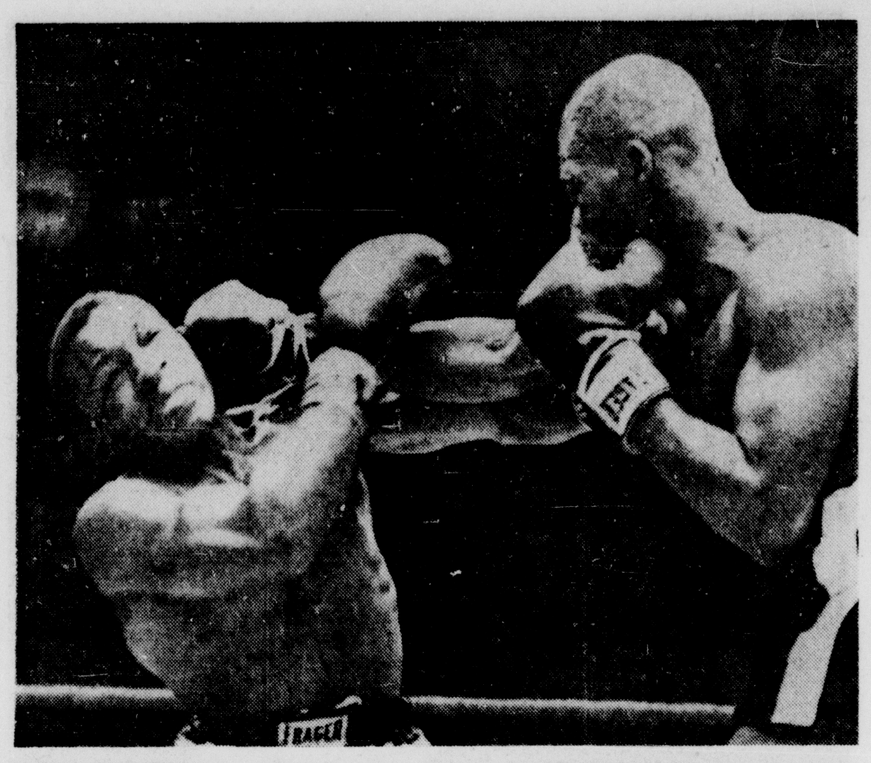

Covington's knee still is a question mark, but he insists it's okay. If it isn't, the Braves could be hurting in the outfield for behind that trio they have only one promising prospect—Lee Maye, who hit .339 at Louisville and .300 with the Braves.

The other outfield candidates are Al Spangler, a .297 hitter at Louisville, and John Demerit, the bonus kid who hasn't made it yet.

So long as Del Crandall stays healthy, the Braves have no catching problem. But if something should happen to Crandall, the Braves could feel the pinch in that department, too.

For behind there is only the veteran Stan Lopata, whom the Braves released and then signed again, and Charlie Lau, who batted .292 with Charleston and Louisville.

But Dressen isn't worried. Not many managers would be with the front-liners he has.

NFL To Keep Independent Video Policy

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Football League will continue its past television policy of each club arranging its own program despite a possible package deal set-up by the new American Football League.

Ending a two-day meeting yesterday the NFL agreed unamiously not to negotiate any TV package "in view of present uncertainty of the legal interpretation of applicable federal laws."

Commissioner Pete Rozelle said serious consideration had been given to package TV because of financial benefits.

"It was argued that such an arrangement by a league or association involved exclusivity and allocation of areas, and in view of the present uncertainty of the legal interpretation of applicable federal laws, no risk of violation should be taken until this matter is clarified," he added.

The AFL announced last week it had a 56-game TV package for sale to either the National Broadcasting Co., or the American Broadcasting Co.

AFL Commissioner Joe Foss said last night in Dallas he had not discussed a package with the networks and sponsors.

In commenting on the possible legal barriers of a package deal as raised by the AFL, Foss said:

"I do not know whether our plan actually will be a package deal. However, I would say offhand that we would be within the law because we would give all parties the opportunity of bidding on it."

NBC said it had acquired 1960 TV rights of all pre-championship and regular season games of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Fresno State Wins

FRESNO (AP) — Fresno State College came up with a five-run fifth inning last night and defeated the Maruzen All-Stars, a touring baseball team from Japan, 5-4.

PERKINS WINS BY TKO

Rollins Impressive, But Cut Eye Halts TV Fight

CHICAGO (AP)—Chico Rollins' effort to make an impressive showing in his national TV ring debut was marred last night by a gashed left eyebrow.

The New York lightweight was kept from answering the bell for the seventh round in Chicago Stadium because of the cut and Chicago's Eddie Perkins gained a technical knockout victory.

The eyebrow was cut in the fourth round and bled profusely. Dr. John Pribble of the Illinois Athletic Commission examined the wound, said it would require three stitches to close, and told Referee Frank Sikora to halt the fight.

It went as a seventh round TKO for Perkins, boosting his record to 17-7. The defeat was Rollins' second in 12 starts.

Through the first six rounds of the scheduled 10, Sikora had Perkins ahead 28 points to 26 under the five point merit system and Judge Howard Walsh favored Perkins 29-26. Judge James McManus had Rollins in front 28-27 and the Associated Press, as well as most of the press section, also favored the New Yorker. The AP card was 29-28.

Perkins weighed 137½ to 136½ for Rollins.

A turnout of 1,128 contributed to a net gate of $1,427.

Wynn Has Gout, Will Miss San Juan Games

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—An attack of the gout probably will keep pitcher Early Wynn off the Chicago White Sox traveling squad leaving here today for San Juan. The Sox joined Philadelphia for the trip to San Juan for a three-game weekend series opening Friday night.

Wynn reported the chronic ailment has settled in his left hip and thigh. He was treated by a physician yesterday.

BOWLING NOTES

Doubles Tourney Jackpot Broken

You don't have to go to Reno to hit the jackpot.

A pair of local bowling stars found an easier way in the wee hours of Tuesday morning when they broke the jackpot in the Country Club Bowl's doubles tournament.

A score of 1395 was required to break the doubles jackpot and that mark stood unsurpassed for months. But just after midnight Monday Ed Baransky of Ignacio and Al Charney of San Rafael turned in a blistering total pinnage of 1423 to end the tourney right there and pick up the lion's share of the $830 prize fund.

Baransky led the way with a sensational 701 scratch series on lines of, in order, 248, 176 and 277! With 52 handicap pins he contributed 753 pins toward the jackpot smasher. Charney, meanwhile, was cranking off 232, 195 and 163 for a 590 scratch. He had a 670 total with the 80 handicap.

Baransky was unbeatable in that final 277 during which he pitched 10 strikes.

Country Club Manager Dave Rivera said the championship team will win $250 for breaking the jackpot. The second place team of Paul Gottlieb and Joe Filippo will receive $100 and the third place tandem of Jim Sanchez and Ray Fondrisi will get $70.

The remaining $410 in the kitty will be distributed among 27 other leading teams.

LOOKS LIKE the Hoffman family is dead set on winning fancy prizes offered at the Country Club. Bill Hoffman recently won that 15-foot trailorboat in the singles tournament.

Tuesday night Bill's son, Bob, looked like he might win a sports car for bowling a perfect 300 in the Men's Handicap League. Bob had seven straight strikes until the pressure finally caught up to him and he missed number eight. Wound up with a 255.

LORRAINE SHONE'S 187 game Tuesday night was a record for the YWCA League. She wound up with a 451 series, high for the night. Other team leaders were Helen Kirch 438, Ruth Smith 421, Evelyn Mathis 415, Eleanor Daunt 407 and Maxine Sloerker 353.

MILL VALLEY Lions Club bowling team will be awarded prizes at 8 p.m., Saturday at the Mill Valley Country Club as winners of the Marin County Lions Bowling Tournament.

In the 20-week handicap league, Mill Valley came out on top with San Anselmo placing second, San Rafael third and Fairfax fourth, according to William Gilmore, Tailtwister of the Mill Valley club.

A TORRID championship race is reaching a climax in the Koch of California League at Greenbrae Lanes with the Purchasing and Corrugation departments tied for first place and the Traffic Department only one game behind. With only two weeks remaining in the second half of the schedule it will be a battle right down to the wire.

In this week's play Herm Salkin hit a 548 series and Nick Nacca came in with a 528.

Wall III, Won't Defend Masters Championship

HONESDALE, Pa. (AP)—Art Wall Jr., golf's leading money winner in 1959, said last night he won't defend his Masters title at Augusta, Ga., April 7 because of an infected right knee. Wall, resting at his home here, said the infection apparently was caused by a kidney ailment.

Defending Champ Wins First Match In AAU Wrestling

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The national AAU wrestling championships entered their second day today with defending heavyweight champ Bill Kerslake of Cleveland pressing toward another title.

Kerslake pinned Bill Littlefield of the New York Athletic Club in 9:07 of a second round match last night.

Kaoru Ishiguro of Tokyo, Japan's heavyweight champ, went down to defeat in the second round, pinned in 7:06 by Walter Goltl of the San Francisco Olympic Club.

Defending champions among the victors were Kerslake, Frank Rosemayr, 191 pounds, of San Francisco; Fritz Fivian, 160, of Oregon State College; and Jim Ferguson, 174, of San Francisco.

The biggest man of the tournament, 383-pound Hallow Wilson, U.S. Navy sailor, crashed in the second round. A. B. Cohen of San Francisco, a mere 220-pounder, pinned Wilson in 6:25.

Ex-Giant Star Connolly Dies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Joe "Coaster" Connolly, a former major league outfielder, died of a heart attack yesterday. He was 63.

Connolly played with the New York Giants, Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox during the early 1920's and compiled a .268 batting average for four major league seasons.

He collapsed at a pier where he was employed as a ship's clerk.

Hot Bite

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A squirrel put out the lights in three suburban communities and parts of two others recently. He climbed a utility pole and chewed into a 44,000-volt line. Service was restored shortly but the squirrel didn't survive to see the lights go back on.

Measles Hits Trackmen

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A measles epidemic has bedded five members of the Occidental College track team. The Tigers' chances of beating UCLA in Saturday's dual meet apparently are scuttled by the epidemic.

Pope John XXIII places red biretta on head of Laurian Cardinal Rugambwa of Tanganyika, Africa, today in Vatican ceremony which climaxed the elevation of eight prelates to the College of Cardinals. Seven are newly named; the eighth, Paolo Cardinal Marella, former apostolic nuncio to France, was named last December. Rugambwa is the first Negro cardinal in modern history of the church. Richmond Span Now Operating 'In The Black'

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—The 10 millionth vehicle to cross the San Rafael-Richmond Bridge last Sunday would have been the 15-millionth had its traffic lived up to pre-construction estimates.

Nevertheless, the bridge is now operating in the black and with the same relative growth in succeeding years, will pay for itself on schedule.

REVENUE UP

That was the report today of the state Department of Public Works. Revenue from bridge tolls now is sufficient to pay all operations and costs and interest payments plus a reserve for repayment of the bond principal, the department said. Maintenance is paid for from state gas taxes, as it is on other state bridges, but not the Golden Gate Bridge.

The San Rafael-Richmond Bridge ended its last fiscal year with a surplus of $27,000 after operations and interest charges.

SURPLUS

According to T. Fred Bagshaw of Mill Valley, assistant director of public works, the bridge, at the present rate of growth, will end the 1960 fiscal year on Aug. 31 with a $271,000 surplus, which is expected to grow into a $298,000 surplus in the 1961 fiscal year.

This will provide more than enough revenue to pay the first bond principal payment of $496,000, due on Sept. 1, 1963, and subsequent payments, which increase about $100,000 per year.

Bagshaw noted the bridge's traffic has been increasing at a rate of about 11 per cent over corresponding months a year ago.

There are about 80 million licensed automobile drivers in the United States.

New French Atom Blast Indicated

PARIS (AP) — France today placed its vast atomic testing area in the Sahara Desert off limits to aircraft starting tomorrow morning, a necessary prelude to a second atomic test blast. It was the second such move in the past 24 hours.

A previous off-limits warning was issued yesterday and lifted early today.

The new alert goes into effect at 5:45 a.m. tomorrow.

The French have been ready for some time to conduct their second atomic test. However, it was felt they would not do so while Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is visiting France.

Khrushchev returned to Paris today from a six-day tour of the provinces and resumes top-level talks with President Charles de Gaulle tonight.

Only yesterday Khrushchev expressed his opposition to further atomic tests by France, or anyone else. His reaction to any French atomic test while he is in the country would likely be acid.

Today's flight ban was in effect only three hours and five minutes. A defense ministry spokesman said there had been no test explosion, but declined to say whether one had been planned and canceled or if it was only a test alert.

Khrushchev told an impromptu news conference aboard his special train yesterday he was against anyone exploding any more atomic weapons.

"It would be just as well if no one exploded any more bombs — the United States, Britain, and Russia, as well as France," he said.

Before France's first atomic explosion Feb. 13, an aircraft alert was ordered in January. But the flight ban was canceled before it took effect.

It was possible that de Gaulle ordered another practice alert to remind Khrushchev that France is now an atomic power and intends to continue development of nuclear weapons and their testing until an ironclad disarmament agreement is worked out.

Khrushchev spent the sixth and final night of his tour of the French provinces at Rouen last night. He goes tonight to the Rambouillet chateau, the presidential country residence 32 miles southwest of Paris, to visit and talk with de Gaulle until his departure for Moscow Sunday.

Treasurer's Pay Starts After Voting

George W. Prydz, San Anselmo city treasurer, pointed out today that pay for the job he holds will not be $50 per month until after the April 12 election.

Prydz was appointed city treasurer on retirement of Police Chief Donald T. Wood, who held it as a $1-per-month sideline job during his last year in office. The city council raised the pay to $50 per month, but Prydz noted the new rate would not take effect until a new term begins.

"I haven't even collected the dollar a month up until now," he said.

Prydz, candidate for a four-year term as treasurer, is opposed for the office by Mrs. Eleanor W. Henry, who has worked parttime in the city clerk's and controller's offices.

DICK CLARK TO TESTIFY IN PAYOLA PROBE

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's now official: Dick Clark, a kingpin of America's disc jockeys, will testify at congressional payola hearings.

A spokesman for the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee confirmed yesterday that Clark has been ordered to appear at hearings tentatively set to begin April 21.

Clark, who is reputed to draw $500,000 a year for his nationally televised deejay shows, has insisted from the outset that he has not accepted payola.

Brian Sanford, Sir Francis Drake High School senior, is one of 67 young Northern California musicians selected to appear during the seventh annual Junior Bach Festival in Berkeley April 24 to May 1. Sanford plays the organ.

Health Surety For Retired Turned Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee today turned down a plan for government-paid health insurance for retired persons.

By a 17-8 vote, the tax-writing committee refused to include the plan in a general bill revising the Social Security system.

Rep. Aime J. Forand (D-R.I.) told newsmen that despite the committee action he will try to force a House vote.

Forand, author of the health insurance bill, said he will seek signatures of a majority of the House members to bring to the floor a separate bill calling for hospitalization, surgical and nursing home benefits.

The 10 Republicans on the committee were reported to have voted solidly against the plan.

Sonoma Delegation Inspects Humane Society Facilities

Members of the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors and Sonoma County Humane Society inspected the facilities of the Marin County Humane Society yesterday and studied the organizational setup and operating program.

Frederic D. Kerr, president of the Marin society, was host to the group. Assisted by manager Mel L. Morse and Supervisor Walter R. Castro, he conducted the visitors on a tour of the dog pound and other facilities.

Kerr told the group that "centralized control and cooperative working arrangements between the society, the county and the various municipal governments has been the key to success in Marin County. We are proud of the progress we have made and the economies we have effected over the years," he said.

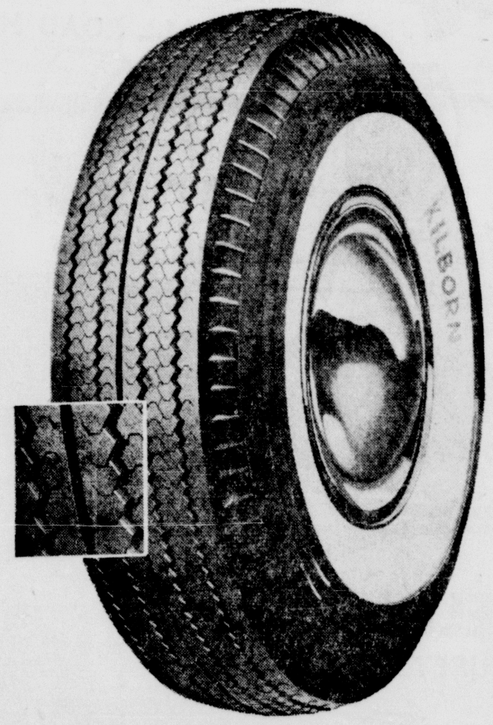

Morse explained that the society handles all animal control as well as humane law enforcement on a countywide basis. This arrangement "eliminates the need for Marin County and each of the separate municipalities to have to shoulder the burden of separate expensive pounds and control programs," he said.

THIS DAY IN 1835, James Crow's neighbor distillers tasted the first bourbon ever made under scientific controls. A new standard of quality was set for all time.

THE DAY OLD CROW WAS BORN

...125 years ago The birth of Old Crow set a new standard of quality for all time. It was the most important event in Kentucky bourbon history.

WHEN OLD CROW first appeared, it was the finest quality Kentucky bourbon anyone had ever tasted. It is rare for history to record the brand preferences of great men—but public writings abound with references to Old Crow. HENRY CLAY, DANIEL WEBSTER, MARK TWAIN—are some of the great men who praised it. Today, it is still the most preferred bourbon in our land. Think of how good it must be to have earned this spontaneous respect over all these years! Taste the greatness of historic Old Crow... born 125 years ago!

Storybook Will Be Fair Theme

Pixie Parents will welcome hundreds of children to the Art and Garden Center for the fifth annual Egg Hunt and Easter Fair on April 6, 7. Because of the enthusiastic reception given this affair in recent years it has been scheduled to run for two consecutive mornings.

Costumes and gay hats are to be worn by various committee members lending a storybook atmosphere to the event, which promises to be one of the most successful and entertaining presented for pre-schoolers.

Eggs will be dyed and hidden in the hunt areas and the discovery of a certain colored egg will bring a special prize. Other activities to take place include storytelling at the playground, animal rides, a show featuring Captain Satellite and an unusual pet show. A new and artistic note to the Easter Fair will be a children's outdoor art exhibit at the Gallery. Arrangements have also been made for a local artist to do children's caricatures.

Reservations are being taken by Mrs. A. P. Otto Jr. of San Anselmo.

There will be numerous other surprises at this popular fund raising project, which is sponsored by Pixie Playground in the Marin Art and Garden Center.

European-American Schools Compared For Novato Club

Five foreign exchange students and two Novato High School students told of their impressions of the United States at the recent meeting of the Junior Women's Club of Novato.

The guests were Nina Knudsen of Copenhagen, Denmark, a student at San Rafael High School, Ayse Daruk of Istanbul, Turkey, attending Katherine Branson School, and Kjelde Malde, of Norway, who is attending Novato High School.

Rich and Ted gave highlights of the countries they visited, and gave a general picture of their lives spent with their exchange "families."

Topper Steals Show At Fashion Focus Lunch, Guide Dog Benefit

Every dog has his day! And on Tuesday at Rickey's popular Fashion Focus luncheon the day belonged to Topper, a labrador retriever Guide Dog, and to more than 800 other Guide Dogs like him who bring "Spring Sunshine" the year round to their blind masters.

Topper enjoyed his promenade among the fashionable audience as much as its members enjoyed seeing him and hearing about the vital, heartwarming work of Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc., honored by Fashion Focus for their outstanding program which gives the blind an opportunity to lead a useful, productive life because of the devoted Guide Dogs.

Tuesday's "Spring Sunshine" was bright with interest about the current fund-raising campaign of Guide Dogs for the Blind whose yearly budget of over $200,000 is necessary if the school is to operate at maximum capacity training new Guide Dogs and sightless masters to work together.

Equally as popular as Topper and the Guide Dog story were the brightest, most enthusiastically received fashions for country living that have been seen in Marin's spring sunshine for many a day! There were enough rays of fashion sunshine in the British imported suits, silk shirtmakers, classic separates, bright cummerbunds and handsome accessories from a distinctive Kentfield shop to keep a wardrobe out of the doldrums for months to come.

Easy-on-the-eye were happy halos of hair creatively styled by a San Rafael coiffure studio for the attractive Guide Dog volunteers who modeled through the Garden Room and The Terrace. The same San Rafael salon has generously styled the women graduates of each class at Guide Dogs for the Blind for the past ten years making them feel and look their lovliest on the important day when the Guide Dog becomes their very own.

Fashions for the "Spring Sunshine."

"Country Morning," Mrs. Frosty Winter ready for a sunny spring in beech-nut slimline tapers, classic spice orange shirt and brilliant cummerbund to cinch a tiny waist, plus shoes to match the cummerbund, and Topper, her walking companion.

"Time for Town," in a handsome suit of pale raspberry wool, imported from Britain, the skirt slim and easy, the jacket boxy to ride with a white shirt, its collar repeating the raspberry tones; Mrs. E. D. Delger to show it attractively.

"Guide Dog Volunteer," Mrs. Peter Phelps in stylish "rice" (a new color!) leather jacket; chaperoning a cream, beige and Chinese red check skirt, the duo spiced with Chinese red accessories.

"Travel in Style," the style, two piece never-wrinkle drip dry cotton; the color, black and white striping to the permanently pleated skirt, belted, hip-hugging jacket; orange the bright note for scarf and leather clutch; Miss Mary Ann Minnera the traveler.

"Leisurely Luncheon," the pace setter, Mrs. Henry Hillebrand, in classic, slimline navy linen sheath, self belt, and accented with red and white at the V neck; off went her sun glasses into their special pocket stitched to the outside of a navy tote bag.

"Bridge by the Terrace," worth a grand slam, the indispensable sweater dress, Mrs. William Donohoe's soft blue easy-care cotton, delightfully full skirted, shirtmakered, with its own matching sweater trimmed with embroidery.

"Supper at Seven," a serving of silk poppies splashed on coral, a romantic collar, and a dash of full-skirted shirtmaker charm for Mrs. Myron duBain.

"Country Cocktails," toasting the merits of Mrs. Fisher Kinslow, Jr. and a pure silk hand screen floral print in lovely blues and greens, a luscious white cashmere trimmed with matching silk border to be a pretty after-dark cover up.

"Spring into Summer" in polka dots of white, roaming on an avacado green sheath, the squared, low back, interesting bodice treatment, and bouquet of white flowers tucked in the belt, newsworthy notes, plus Mrs. Walter Meinberger.

Next Tuesday, "April Showers Bring May Flowers," and the 100th Fashion Focus luncheon to honor the Junior Social Service Auxiliary and present a parade of delightful Easter looks for fashion minded women of all ages. Reservations may be made by calling Rickey's for the 12:30 luncheon.

Marin Country Day School Fund For Scholars Aided By Shop

An effective and popular way to raise money is through thrift shops. There are several scattered strategically throughout Marin County and the proceeds are used to support projects of various organizations.

Typical is the Closet Shop at 37 Caledonia street in Sausalito which is operated by the mothers of children attending the Marin Country Day School, a private school located on Paradise drive between Corte Madera and Tiburon.

Organized three years ago by Mrs. Eric Barnett and Mrs. Juan Hayes, both of Sausalito, the shop was patterned after similar shops in San Francisco which specialize in next-to-new clothing and all sorts of household items.

Proceeds are earmarked for tuition aid and the scholarship fund of the school.

A permanent shop manager, Mrs. Ralph Hilton of Mill Valley, coordinates the shop's activities and the pricing and staffing is done by the mothers and friends of the school.

To ease the burden each classroom is assigned a month during the year when the mothers are responsible for staffing the shop and securing the merchandise to be sold. In this way a volunteer works only two or three days a year depending on the number of children she has registered in the school.

In addition to the regular merchandise that regularly flows through the shop, a consignment program has been set up. In this way the donor realizes a percentage of the sale. Because of this unusually good articles like sterling silver, fine China and furs in good condition are available.

According to Mrs. Bradford Collins of Fairfax, who has been shop chairman for the past few years, one of the interesting jobs at the shop is marking because of the interesting labels (such as Oleg Cassini) which shows up in donated merchandise. She herself arrived at a mother's meeting recently completely garbed in clothing from the shop, which her friends pronounced "stunning."

A monthly mark down policy keeps the merchandise flowing through the shop and what is unsaleable is donated to organizations like the Good Will.

Donations are always acceptable. In addition to clothing, both adult and children, the shop markets books, pictures, lamps, dishes, linens and household items. It is desirable to indicate the size of a dress and the original price when donating it, said Mrs. Collins.

"We consider the Closet Shop a very worthwhile project, with a good return for our effort," she added. It is open every Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 10:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Donations are tax deductible."

Fairfax Club Holds Luncheon Meeting

A St. Patrick's theme was carried out in decorations for the luncheon of the Fairfax Women's Club held following its recent meeting which was conducted by Mrs. C. W. Carle, president. On the table were green candles and cutouts of shamrock. Over the mantel were more shamrocks and figurines of Irish colleens. On the serving committee were Mesdames Harry Hansell, Edward Martenson, James Johnson, DeLos Butts, Robert Roy and Miss Martina O'Connor. Cards were played after luncheon.

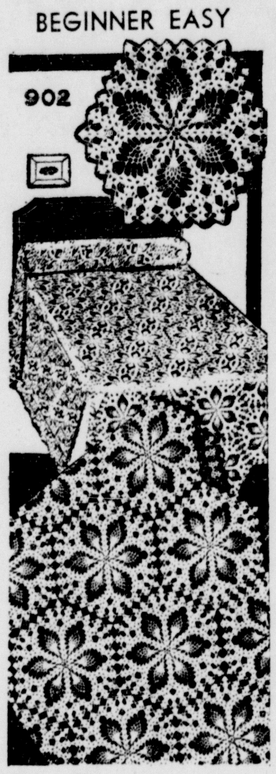

On Tuesday, April 5 at 1:30 p.m. the club will hold its regular business which will be followed by a program presented by the Pacific Telephone Co. Miss Sidney Hedin will speak and give a demonstration on the "Evolution of Sound."

MEMBERS of Mill Valley's Mu Tau Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, who met recently at the home of Mrs. Charles Derham, to complete plans for the fashion show luncheon to be held at Ondine's in Sausalito tomorrow (left to right) Mrs. Sidney Vogensen, who is in charge of tickets; Mrs. Derham, decorations; Mr. Robert Laughead, publicity, and Mrs. Doyle Lockabey, president and general chairman of the event. Moving Day Means Emotional Upset For Young Children

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Moving day to the homemaker means clutter and confusion, but eventually clean closets.

What does it mean to a child? Emotional upset? Shock?

At least two national organizations are worrying about the matter, especially since we've become a nation of changing addresses.

An estimated 41 million Americans will move this year, compared with 31 million a decade ago.

The American Association for Childhood Education, Washington, said this meant that six million children from five to 13 years will pull up roots and plant them elsewhere.

The American Association for Family Living, a child study group with headquarters in Chicago, studied the effects of moving for one of the nation's carriers and found that "the emotional effect . . . depends mainly on the age of the individual child and its existing relationship with its parents."

It indicated that if the child is loved, is emotionally healthy, and there is a happy household atmosphere, there is little danger of upset.

Each association put together a list of suggestions for making M-day a happy one for children.

Here are some from the family living group:

—If you have an infant, see that you are near him, feed him on schedule and cuddle him often. However, baby is the one least likely to be upset by moving.

—The pre-school child is the most vulnerable. Give him a preview of his new home by a visit if possible, and let him pack a favorite toy in his suitcase.

—You can tell the school-age youngster about the move and reasons for making it. Let him select the color scheme for his room in the new house, in addition to arranging the furniture as he wishes.

—Don't try to erase all memories of the old home overnight. Let the ties be loosened gradually.

—Be tolerant of disturbing symptoms if they do occur and don't deny a child's need for extra attention.

—To older children, such activities as the Little League, the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts are all-important affairs. Make every effort to insure a place for children in such organizations before you move to the new community.

—The pre-school child probably is better off with a neighbor on the day the moving men arrive.

The Childhood Education association booklet suggested:

—"With a few dolls, a wagon and some empty boxes, the whole process of moving — packing, loading, taking off, eating on the way, unloading, unpacking, more eating—can be acted out again and again before the day arrives." This conditioning was suggested for pre-school children.

Fashion Luncheon Of Mu Tau Unit Slated For Friday

Members of Mill Valley's Mu Tau Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi completed plans for the fashion show luncheon to be held tomorrow at Ondine's in Sausalito at a recent meeting in the home of Mrs. Charles Derham.

According to the president, Mrs. Doyle Lockabey, who is also general chairman, fashions for the 12 o'clock affair will be provided by a Belvedere shop with hair styles by a Belvedere salon.

Members modeling are Mesdames Lockabey, Derham, Sidney Vogensen, Robert Laughead, Byron Tardiff, J. A. Jacobs, Fred Martinez and William J. Wright.

Proceeds will go to the chapter's philanthropic project, aid to the Marin county society of hearing-handicapped children.

Novato Dorcas Plans Spring Style Show

Models who made their own clothes will be in the spotlight at the "Spring Silhouettes" fashion show sponsored by the Dorcas Circle of the Novato Community Methodist Church to be held at the church April 21 at 8 p.m.

Committees in charge include Mrs. Paul Vincilione and Mrs. William Wilson, coordination; Mrs. Jack Lewis and Mrs. Herbert Johnson, publicity; Mrs. Kenneth Crabtree, Mrs. Ray Dougherty, Mrs. Frank Eaton, refreshments; Mrs. Robert Harmon and Mrs. Jack Machado, decorations; Mrs. Robert Williams, commentary; and Mrs. Lowell Swift, music.

Mrs. Betty Farrar, a former Novato resident now living in San Rafael and a professional model will also show clothes. Children's fashions will also be featured.

Adding a touch of spring to the setting will be tinted tree branches decorated with tiny crepe paper blossoms, and small mobiles with butterflies. Spring flowers will center the tea tables for refreshments which will be served after the show in the church social room.

Sausage-Apple Rings

As a garnish for a pork roast or as an entree for a light luncheon, shape pork sausage into small balls, and cook until done. Place each ball on a glazed apple ring. For variety tint the apple rings with your favorite food coloring. It's the clever homemaker who will use this idea.

Flower Show For Novato

Thousands of beautiful plants, shrubs, trees, bulbs and seeds will be offered to the public at the Garden Bazaar of the Novato Community Club April 7-9 on the grounds at the Brice Market, Nave Shopping Center.

Gifts are pouring in from all over the city and people of the area are assured of the best from Novato gardens, said spokesman Marian Merritt.

Latest donation was made by Mrs. Claude Titus who gave a number of her choice African violets in both pink and purple to add to the house plant table. Violets in pure white and an unusual vari-colored type will also be on sale as well as the very popular triple-purple.

Other house plants include: the ordinary oxycardium or splitleaf selloum; various foliage plants; miniature palms; baby tears; pepper plants; pepperomia obtusifolia; ferns; several types of cactus; saxifraga sarmentosa; and the white leaf caladium.

The outdoor plant and tree section has received a donation of flowering maples from the garden of Mrs. Don Hoy, 563 Fernandoz Drive.

There have been several requests for Lily of the Nile (agapanthus) and Naked Lady (amaryllis belladonna). Garden club members have none of these for sale and are looking for donors. Orders will be taken and bulbs delivered at the proper season if any are found, according to Mrs. Merritt.

Gardeners are asked to take their donations to the Bazaar. It is suggested that donors call any member of the Bazaar committee: Mrs. Walter Kuser, Mrs. Walter Simonds, Mrs. B. F. Collier, Mrs. Robin Cannon, or Mrs. James Ruhlman, to make arrangements as to the best time to take their things as it will be impossible to display everything at one time.

EPISCOPAL CHURCHWOMEN of the Diocese of California are sponsoring a dinner meeting at the Claremont Hotel in Berkeley on May 5 at which Princess Ileana will be the speaker. At a recent meeting at the home of Mrs. Frank Brown of St. John's Church in Ross, plans for publicizing the event were made. Among those present were (left to right) Mrs. William B. Layton Jr., of Fairfax, Mrs. Delos Watson of Mill Valley, president of the United Council of Churchwomen in Marin County, Mrs. Brown, a San Anselmo resident; and Mrs. Richard Mallett of the Church of the Nativity, Marinwood. Episcopal Churchwomen Slate Important Inter-Faith Event

On the night of May 5 the Episcopal Churchwomen of the Diocese of California are sponsoring an inter-faith event of great interest. At a dinner to be given at the Claremont Hotel in Berkeley H.R.H. Princess Ileana will be speaker. Her subject will be the "Life of the Layman in the Church."

Princess Ileana, author, artist, humanitarian and Christian leader, is the daughter of the late Queen Marie and King Ferdinand of Romania and great garnddaughter of Queen Victoria of England and of Czar Alexander II of Russia. In her girlhood she witnessed the destruction and chaos of years of war and revolution. In her early teens she was an active member of the Y.W.C.A., president of Girl Reserves and Junior Red Cross of Romania. She also organized the Romanian Girl Scouts, the first school for social workers and was active in many welfare societies.

In 1931 she married the Archduke Anton of Austria and left Romania to live in Schloss Sonnberg in Lower Austria. Six children were born to this royal couple. During her life there the Princess found time to run a baby clinic and a school canteen for underprivileged children and to organize the Girl Scouts in Austria.

After six years under Nazi regime she and her children returned to Romania and there she immediately organized her own hospital for war victims and civilians otherwise unable to receive care. She maintained this work until the time the Communists forced her and her family out of Romania in early 1948.

Since coming to the United States with her children, Princess Ileana has been active in lecturing on "Romania Under Communism" to women's and men's clubs, universities, school and church organizations. She has been particularly active in the Eastern Orthodox church to which she belongs but also devotes a great deal of time as a member of the Massachusetts Council of Churches.

The Princess has also published several books, "I Live Again," "The Hospital of the Queen's Heart," "My Inner Faith." She now lives in Newton, Massachusetts and is married to Stefan Issarescu, M.D.

To formulate plans for publicizing this event in this area Mrs. Frank Brown, Marin County chairman of Ecumenical Relations, held a meeting in her San Anselmo home with the representatives from the various Episcopal parishes. Present were the Mesdames P. E. Nielsen, St. Paul's, San Rafael; Richard Mallett, Church of the Nativity, Marinwood; John E. Koenig, Christ Church, Sausalito; Horatio Ham, Church of Our Saviour, Mill Valley; W. L. Somervell, Church of The Redeemer, Glenwood; Dante Bennett, St. Francis, Novato; Frank Brown, St. John's, Ross. Also present were Mrs. Charles Lodge of San Lorenzo, diocesan chairman of ecumenical relations, and Mrs. Delos Watson, president of the United Council of Churchwomen in Marin County.

The Princess Ileana Dinner and Lecture is open to people of all faiths and tickets and information are available through the various churches or any of the women at the recent meeting.

MV University Women Give Program On Study Abroad

Six speakers gave a comprehensive view of opportunities for study abroad by students of all ages at the recent "Around The World In 80 Ways" meeting sponsored by the Mill Valley Branch of the American Association of University Women.

The program coordinated by Mrs. Kenneth Pratt, was held at the Mill Valley Community Church.

Lead-off man was Theodore R. Mitchell, Tam High speech teacher who serves as liaison for the American Field Service student exchange program with participating Marin public high schools.

He was followed by Lynn Harriman, a participant in a Swedish language group sponsored by the private, non-profit experiment in international living, and Mrs. Bruce Mac Kenzie, a branch member, covered "California Indian Visits" sponsored in Marin by the Unitarian Church and Friends Groups. The only requirements for the hosts are having children between the ages of 10 and 13 in their homes and ability to provide two weeks' room and board for an Indian child in this age group.

Mrs. Daniel A. Collins spoke of a comparatively new program, the children's international summer village open to 11-year-olds. Thirty-four other nations participate in this outdoor camping program organized in this country.

Higher education chairman of the branch, Mrs. Donald V. Fleenor told of the various programs available to college students, including junior year abroad, campuses abroad maintained by Stanford, Redlands and Chico State, and the committee on friendly relations among foreign students.

Fellowship program chairman of the branch, Mrs. Pratt described such graduate opportunities as the Fulbright and Rhodes fellowships and the AAUW's two-million dollar endowment trust which provides fellowships for American women graduate scholars.

Decorations appropriate to the theme were arranged by Mesdames Eugene Hecht, Robert C. Morgan and R. S. O'Connor, assisted by Sally, Susie and Nancy Pratt, who made flags.

After the question and answer period Mrs. Pratt reported that the display of brochures will be donated to the Mill Valley public library. She also announced that the branch will present the library with the annual UNESCO publication listing in three languages the programs offered foreigners by educational institutions throughout the world.

Presentation will be made during National Book Week. A detailed report of the meeting is being sent to the Mill Valley, Reed and Sausalito Elementary School Districts, the Tamalpais Union High School District, and College of Marin.

Today is Thursday, March 31st, the 91st day of the year, with 275 more to follow in 1960.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning stars are Mars, Mercury, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1732, Austrian composer Franz Joseph Haydn was born.

In 1840, President Van Buren issued an executive order establishing a 10-hour work day for government employees.

In 1880, Wabash, Ind., became the first incorporated community to be completely illuminated by electrical power.

In 1918, daylight savings time went into effect in parts of the U. S.

In 1933, Congress created the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC).

In 1943, enthusiastic New York audiences cheered "Oklahoma," a new Rodgers and Hammerstein musical comedy.

A thought for today: English novelist William Makepeace Thackery said: Next to the very young, I suppose the very old are the most selfish."

THE PARENTS' CORNER

By RICHARD BARBOUR, Ph. D.
Guidance Counsellor

Teen-Age Boys More Vulnerable Than Girls To Bad Influences

V.L. "Dr. Barbour, you have made a mess of my life. I'm a boy of 14 attending high school. I used to run around with my buddies after dinner. Now I have to stay home and study. You wrote an article saying boys of my age need supervision as much as girls. My folks read it, and cracked down. Do you have to print advice like that?"

Reply. Yes, I do. I'm a guidance counselor working with youngsters in trouble. I've found that boys are even more vulnerable to the wrong influences than girls. They need at least as much supervision. Many parents give their sons too much freedom, and come to regret it. I know it seems tough on you, but you're better off this way.

M.J. "My girl is 17. She always has been a worrier. She is not pretty and her health is not good. For the last two weeks she has been having odd spells. She stands or sits, with an intense look on her face. She doesn't hear me when I call, and if I touch her she jerks away. Later she stops this, and is herself again. She tells me she has been listening to a man's voice, whispering love words to her. Is that reasonable?"

Reply. No. Your girl needs psychiatric help. Ask your family doctor to refer you to a specialist. Be sure to follow the psychiatrist's suggestions. Don't delay.

J.U. "My boy has been in first grade since September. Only now is he beginning to read out of a book. I expected him to start reading early in the fall. Why the delay?"

Reply. Good first-grade teachers start by studying their pupil's abilities. They know children need a "mental age" of about 6 years and 6 months, to learn to read easily. The teachers put their children into groups, according to their readiness for reading. This way there are fewer children who fail. Your son probably has a well-trained teacher.

British Confidence In Police Shaken By Unsolved Crimes

LONDON (UPI) — Britons are worried today by a question that has nothing to do with the cold war, hydrogen bombs or space flights. It is a question that strikes much closer to home.

The question is: "Are our police good enough?"

In Britain, the mere asking of such a question smacks of heresy. After all, this is the home of Scotland Yard, the epitome of police efficiency; of the London bobby, a model for all the world in politeness, bravery and skill; the home of provincial police departments every bit as good as many big-city organizations.

But suddenly, Britain's faith in its police has been shaken.

Two things have struck, and struck hard, at this fundamental British conviction that its police force is the world's best:

—A wave of charges of police brutality, beatings and cruelty toward arrested suspects.

—An official Home Office confession that half of Britain's crimes last year went unsolved.

The unsolved crimes can be rationalized away. The belief that Scotland Yard always, eventually, gets its man, is as deep-rooted here as it is in Canada when it comes to the Mounties. Crimes unsolved this year probably will be solved next year, or certainly the year after. It's all a matter of time.

But it's different with the charges of police brutality. These cannot be talked away at all.

And such charges lately have been made almost every third day:

—Guenter Fritz Padola, arrested as a suspect in the murder of a policeman, was perfectly well before his arrest. He spent the next two weeks in a hospital. One eye was still black when he first appeared in court three weeks after his arrest. His defense attorney said he couldn't get a satisfactory statement from his client four weeks after the arrest.

Questions thundering through Parliament demanding to know whether Padola had been beaten senseless by police got no satisfactory answer. Preliminary hearings in the trial were held in secret. The suspicions remain.

—Kenneth Barnaby, 19, swore out summonses against two Nottingham policemen for allegedly punching and hitting him with a hose.

—Ronald Roberts, 33, charged that two London policemen beat him and slammed him against the wall after picking him up on a drunk charge.

—Ronald C. Abreu, 37, summoned two London policemen for assault and causing bodily harm.

—Texan Howard M. Siegler, a medical student, charged he was beaten by two policemen in Dundee, Scotland, but he did not press charges.

—Two Birmingham detectives were found guilty of beating up a Jamaican prisoner. They were fined.

Late in August, a government official broke the silence that had largely surrounded the whole situation.

"It is time it was stressed that the police are doing their duty and performing a public service," he said.

Home Secretary R. A. Butler, just before Parliament recessed for the summer, said he was "satisfied there has been no decline in the standards of conduct of the metropolitan police."

No official inquiry was planned, he said. But representatives of 75,000 policemen in junior ranks called on Butler and discussed—among other things—"the relationships between the public and the police."

It is the fact that such discussions should be necessary, that such questions could be raised in public, that such charges can be made in the courts and the press, which has stunned Britain into a shocked silence.

For silence it has been. Only one newspaper reporter has sought to weave these individual cases into something of a re-examination of the British police.

"Today an alarming and subtle current is creeping into the minds of many average men and women," wrote John Knight in the Daily Sketch.

"For at the moment, Britain's 77,000 policemen are dipping in popularity—a thing which has never happened since the force was founded."

Knight posed three questions to which he demanded — but has not received—answers:

—"Has a secret directive gone out to all forces encouraging them to get tough with criminals . . .?"

—"Is the force (so) exhausted . . . that nerves are frayed and the result is harshness to the public?"

—"Is the force being given too many new powers which restrict personal freedom?"

Again, it is the fact that such questions are being asked which is unprecedented.

And until they are answered, and the growing public suspicion about the police allayed, some British citizens may look on their friendly, skillful bobbies with more doubts than they have harbored before.

School Bond Votes Having Less Success

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—School bond elections have had steadily less success in California during the past five years, the state Department of Education reports.

The department said its survey showed the success of bond elections dropped from 84 per cent in 1954-55 to 68 per cent in 1958-59.

All but a few of the state's 1,721 school districts participated in the survey.

Junior colleges had the greatest success with bond elections during the five-year period, with only four of 25 failing to pass, for 84 per cent. Elementary districts were second, with 80 per cent of 950 issues approved.

Unified district voters passed 69 per cent of their 155 issues, while high school districts were 65 per cent successful in 255 elections.

Of all elections reported, the department said, 174 were repeat elections on issues which failed previously. Fifty-five per cent of them were passed by the voters.

English Teaching To Be Discussed

The question of whether English is being adequately taught in today's schools will be the topic of a panel discussion tonight at 8 o'clock in the Novato High School cafeteria.

Sponsored by the Novato Advisory Council for Education, the panel of laymen, teachers and college students will express views on modern teaching methods and requirements.

Mrs. Peter Yarish, chairman of the council's educational standards committee, said that committee will make recommendations to Novato Unified School District officials following the public airing of the question. Her committee has spent the past year studying methods of teaching English, Mrs. Yarish said.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Trampolines Permit Asked For Novato

Will our sons and daughters, years from now, say of us, "Those were the days when jumping on trampolines were the rage"?

Another permit to operate a trampoline center and pavilion —this one at Novato—has been applied for. Jumpolene Inc. made the application to the Marin County Planning Commission. A hearing on it will be held Monday at the commission hearing room, 1711 Grand avenue, San Rafael.

The application was signed by Albert Silver of 543 Appleberry lane, Lucas Valley, for H. M. Koch and Sons, Corte Madera. A similar permit has been asked for a center at Corte Madera.

The later application is for a center at the Nave Shopping Center on South Novato boulevard.

Also to be heard in an application by the Tiburon Fire Protection District for a use permit to build a fire station on the northwest corner of Trestle Glen boulevard and Paradise drive.

Also to be heard are certain refinements in the zoning law as it pertains to Del Mesa and Dillon Beach. All matters will be heard during the day with the opening session at 9 a.m.

San Rafael Man Ordered To Jail

Jan Chmielowec, 25, of 1322½ Fifth avenue, San Rafael, must spend five days in jail and pay $250 fine for his second drunken driving offense.

He was sentenced by Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court. The judge put Chmielowec on six months probation, during which time he may drive only for work. The jail time may be served on weekends.

Chmielowec was arrested on Highway 101 last Jan. 28. He had a prior conviction in March of 1958.

Judge Thomas fined three others for first offenses.

Kenneth Dale Utley, 39, an engineer, of 505 Magnolia avenue, Larkspur, must pay $200 fine and remain on nine months probation. He was caught on Sir Francis Drake boulevard in San Anselmo on March 19.

Pauline McNabb, 49, an accountant who lives at 42 Spindrift Passage, Corte Madera, drew $200 fine and nine months probation. She was caught on Millay place in Mill Valley last Saturday.

James Alexander Cleeton, 18, of 88 Prospect avenue, Sausalito, must pay $75 fine and remain on supervised probation for six months. Cleeton was caught on Prospect avenue in Sausalito on March 6.

Square Dance Club Chooses Officers

Dr. Allen W. Conroy of Greenbrae will head the Cornhuskers square dance group in Larkspur throughout 1960.

He was elected at the regular business meeting this week at the American Legion Hall in Larkspur. Dr. Conroy succeeds George Hermsmeyer. Other new officers include Robert (Livewire) Lindskog, vice president; Dr. Elmer (Bud) Weden, treasurer; and Mrs. Charles Patterson, secretary.

Cornhuskers caller, Gordon Collins, will review difficult and new calls every Wednesday from 8 to 8:30 p.m., with regular squares from 8:30 to 10:30 as usual.

TOT'S CALL FOR HELP BRINGS QUICK ACTION

RENO (AP)—Telephone company personnel traced the call quickly when a 3-year-old girl told an operator: "My little sister is sick and I can't wake up mommy or daddy."

Investigating officers were met by the tot at the door of her apartment. She showed them her "sister,"—a small rag doll.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Bogod, her parents, who both work nights, slept through the incident.

Marin Woman Publicity Unit Officer

Mrs. Leslie Luergan of San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo is newly elected secretary of the Northern California chapter of the National Religious Publicity Council.

Rev. Winston H. Taylor of Mill Valley, director of public relations and promotion for the Methodist Church, was re-elected secretary of the chapter at its annual election Monday evening at the seminary in San Anselmo.

Rev. Theo DeLaney, missionary to the deaf for the Lutheran Church in San Francisco, stepped from vice president to president, succeeding Dr. Harry R. Koontz of Golden Gate Baptish Theological Seminary in Strawberry.

Canon Richard Byfield of the Episcopal Church, San Francisco, was named vice president.

High School Tests For 8th Graders To Start Monday

Testing of eighth graders who will enter Tamalpais, Drake or Redwood high schools next fall will begin Monday at elementary schools, it was announced today by Eunice E. Reader, Tamalpais Union High School District guidance director.

Guidance personnel will administer differential aptitude tests and the Kuder preference record. Expenses of the program are covered by a federal grant.

Testing on Monday and Tuesday will be at Sleepy Hollow, Brookside, Manor, Fairfax Central, Nicasio, Henry C. Hall and Larkspur-Corte Madera schools. Testing at Richardson Bay will be on Tuesday and Wednesday.

On Wednesday and Thursday counselors will be at Isabel Cook, Lagunitas, Kent and Reed schools. Tests will be administered at Neil Cummins on April 18, 19 and 20; at Edna Maguire on April 18 and 19; at Bolinas, April 20 and 22; and at Ross on April 20 and 21.

College Group Slates Car Wash Saturday

Diocto, a student service organization at the College of Marin, will have its car wash Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at Jack's Union Service station, Madera boulevard and Tamalpais drive, Corte Madera, instead of the scheduled location at a Standard station in that city, said secretary Dorothy Wehrheim.

Proceeds of the wash are to go to an orphanage, she said.

The first powered road vehicle (forerunner of the automobile) was designed in France in 1769.

THIS IS THE SEASON!!
That wonderful happy summertime prompts us all to think of outdoor living with swimming a must! We have three listings with splashy pools that we list below for your inspection:
2 bedrms plus den, or use as 3 bedrms., two baths, delightfully landscaped on a 70 x 100 fenced lot complete with sprinkler system to give you lots of time to lounge in the heated filtered pool. This one is $24,300.00.
Absentee owner will sacrifice this "loaded-with-extras" Eichler beauty. He has $8,000 worth of extras and is taking a great loss on this heated pool home when he priced it at the low figure of $29,500.
Here's four bedrooms PLUS a family room and an all electric kitchen to boot! And of course there's a heated, filtered pool the center of a 2200 square foot patio, all in concrete! Big GI loan, too, and only $30,700.

INCOME TAX FACTS

You Can Claim Refund On Insurance Overpayment

By PETER J. WIKEL, CPA

Did you work for more than one employer in California during 1959 or have more than $36 deducted from your paychecks for unemployment disability insurance tax?

Peter J. Wikel

The maximum that can be deducted from your paychecks for unemployment disability insurance in any one year by any one employer is $36. er deducted more than $36 you should apply to him for a refund.

If you had more than one employer in 1959 and earned more than $3,600, you had more than $36 deducted from your paycheck for unemployment disability insurance and you are entitled to a refund of the difference. You must claim this refund if you are to receive it. The claim must be filed before June 30, 1960.

Claims are filed with the California Department of Employment, Attention Accounting Section, 1025 P street, Sacramento 14, Calif.

Claims must be filed on Form DE 1964. These forms can be secured from your local office of the department of employment, or by writing to Sacramento.

Robert C. Meisner, former golf pro and manager of the Indian Valley Golf Club, has joined the sales staff of the George G. Pearce realty office in Novato.

Meisner, who lives with his wife, Mabel, at 365 Alameda del Prado, was formerly in the real estate business in Cleveland, Ohio.

Baker, which will be one of groups in first aid competition during Jubilee Camporee on April 23 and 24 at Ft. Cronkhite. Camporee For Scouts Set At Ft. Cronkhite

"More camping," is the answer of Thomas R. Decker, of 32 Thailia street, Mill Valley, chairman of the Marin Scout Council, Southern District.

And, in particular, they like to go to camporees, where they compete with members of other Scout troops in scouting skills," he said.

Because of this "passion for camping," the Southern District of the Marin Council will conduct its annual camporee April 23 and 24, Decker announced.

"For the first time the camp will be conducted at Ft. Cronkhite, where I expect about 250 Scouts from Southern Marin to gather," Decker said. "About a dozen troops will participate in this jubilee camporee, commemorating the 50th anniversary of Scouting."

Arrangements have been made with the Army's 40th Artillery Brigade (Air Defense), which will act as host for the outing, to utilize the coastal area of Ft. Cronkhite. There, under direction of Army M/Sgt. A. R. Reagan, the brigade's Nike air defense missilemen have roughed out a camping ground for the Scouts.

"It'll be up to the Scouts to make their own camping sites," Decker said, "but the 40th Brigade is providing us with marvelous assistance."

Sergeant Reagan said the 6th Army Band would be present to open the camporee at the initial flag raising ceremony on April 23 at 9 a.m.

"Another feature will be a Nike Hercules missile site tour on Sunday, April 24," said Col. Warren King, executive officer of the brigade. "This will be in addition to the scouting activities."

Decker said a full program of activities and the camporee scheduled would be announced later. "We will have many of the features that made last year's camporee so successful. Among these are the competitive Scout hike, and camp site inspections."

Board Asks Comment On Water Law

The Marin County Board of Supervisors have asked County Fire Chief Charles Reilley and Marvin W. Brigham, director of public works, to submit comments on an ordinance that would forbid construction of homes in a water-short area.

The Muir Woods Park Assn., members of which long have been plagued by lack of sufficient water pressure at their homes, asked the board for such an ordinance.

The association has asserted that Muir Woods National Monument, during dry weather, would be subject to loss by fire because of inadequate water pressure. In an effort to point up their troubles they asked for the ordinance.

The board requested County Counsel Leland H. Jordan for an opinion on the matter.

Jordan said there is no provision in the county housing code for preventing such construction but that if the board "so desired it could adopt an ordinance which would give to the building inspector such control."

A discussion brought out that subdivision laws require that an adequate water supply be provided in case of fire, but that in many areas where individual homes are being built, there is not enough water.

Reilley and Brigham were asked to comment on how such a law would affect such isolated building problems.

Paris has a population of 2,850,000.
